Glossary

Chapter 1 Introduction

Section I General

1–1. Purpose

This regulation establishes the policies, duties, and responsibilities of the U.S. Army Chaplaincy in meeting the Army's religious, moral, and spiritual requirements in support of Title 10, United States Code, Department of Defense Directives, and Instructions, and Chief of Chaplains requirements.

1–2. References

Required and related publications and prescribed and referenced forms are listed in appendix A.

1–3. Explanation of abbreviations and terms

Abbreviations and special terms used in this regulation are explained in the glossary.

1–4. Responsibilities

Responsibilities are listed in section II of chapter 1.

1–5. Establishment of the Army Chaplaincy

a. The Continental Congress established Chaplains as an integral part of the Army of the United States on 29 July 1775. The Chaplaincy remains a relevant and integral part of the heritage and future of the Army. Chaplains have served in significant numbers from the earliest battles of the American War of Independence to the present. American Chaplains represent the unique commitment of the American social and religious culture that values freedom of conscience and spiritual choice as proclaimed in the founding documents.

b. The importance and influence of the Chaplain to the religious, moral, and spiritual health of the unit have been valued throughout the history of the Army. Army Chaplains represent faith groups within the pluralistic religious culture in America and demonstrate the values of religious freedom of conscience and spiritual choice. In many nations of the world, religious beliefs influence perceptions of power, diplomacy, law, and social customs. Chaplains provide to commanders and staff invaluable insight into the impacts of religion when developing strategy, campaign plans, and conducting operations. Commanders continue to value the impact of the Chaplaincy in its core commitment to the soul and spirit of the Army to: Nurture the Living, Care for Wounded, and Honor the Dead across the full spectrum of military operations.

1–6. The Chaplaincy and the U.S. Constitution

a. The First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution prohibits enactment of any law “respecting an establishment of religion “or” prohibiting the free exercise thereof.” Congress recognizes the necessity of the Chaplain Corps in striking a balance between the establishment and free exercise clauses.

b. The Establishment Clause forbids any governmental authority from mandating a religion or way of prayer. In the pluralistic religious setting of the military, Unit Ministry Teams (UMTs) provide opportunities for religious support (worship services, religious classes, prayers, and so forth) for individuals from all religious backgrounds. Chaplains cooperate with each other without compromising their faith tradition or ecclesiastical endorsement requirements, to ensure the most comprehensive religious support opportunities possible within the unique military environment.

c. The Free Exercise clause guarantees individuals the right to practice what their religion requires and conscience dictates. Soldiers, Family members, and authorized Department of Defense (DOD) civilians are entitled to Chaplain support. Chaplains are expected to advise the command on all matters pertaining to the free exercise of religion and to speak with a candor and urgency befitting the exercise of their religious duties. Chaplains assist the commander in providing for the accommodation of religious practices.

d. The Chaplaincy is an instrumentality of the U.S. Government to ensure that the “free-exercise” rights of religion are not abridged. This constitutional principle is deeply imbedded in the statutory foundations of the Army. The Chaplain and Chaplain Assistant are core and essential manpower at every echelon of the force and are both inherently Governmental in Nature (GIN) – military (Memorandum, HQDA, DAMO–FMP, 30 October 2008, subject: Decision Point 91, Unit Ministry Team ((UMT) Implementation Plan). In maintaining the balance between the establishment and Free Exercise Clause, Army Chaplaincy functions are exempt from conversion to civilian structures.

1–7. The Chaplaincy and Public Law

a. Title 10, United States Code (USC), Section 3073 (10 USC 3073), Section 3547 (10 USC 3547), and Section 3581 (10 USC 3581), establishes the position of Chaplain in the Army and, together with regulations promulgated by the Secretary of the Army, prescribes the duties of that position. This statutory authority requires commanders to furnish facilities and transportation for Chaplains to perform their duty.

- b.* Public law requires Chaplains to conduct religious services for personnel of their assigned command.
- c.* The duties of Chaplains beyond those specifically mandated by statute are derived duties, assigned by the Army, with extensive historical and legal precedent. They are described throughout this regulation.
- d.* General Order No. 253, issued by the War Department, Washington, DC, dated 28 December 1909, established the position of Chaplain Assistant for the purpose of assisting the Chaplain in the performance of their official duties.

1–8. Policy development

- a.* Establishment of policy—
 - (1) The Chief of Chaplains (CCH) establishes policy for the Army Chaplaincy.
 - (2) Recommendations for policy changes are submitted through staff channels to the Director, DACH–3/5/7 for final approval by the CCH.
- b.* Review of publications—
 - (1) Drafts of surveys, studies, or other documents that represent, or may be construed to represent the position, or policy of the Army Chaplaincy will be forwarded to the Director, DACH–3/5/7, for review before publication.
 - (2) The Director, DACH–3/5/7, is responsible for reviewing regulations and draft regulations for the CCH.
- c.* The Army Chaplaincy Strategic Plan (ACSP)—
 - (1) The CCH promulgates the Chaplain Corps vision, mission, values, goals, objectives, and implementation directives through the Army Chaplaincy Strategic Plan.
 - (2) The ACSP complements the strategic planning efforts of the Army Campaign Plan (ACP) and provides the Chaplain Corps with a planning and evaluation tool to monitor performance for short, mid, and long-term objectives. Although this document is not a funding document, guidance contained in it may be cited to justify programs that form the basis for the annual Command Master Religious Plan (CMRP).

1–16. Senior Army Chaplain

a. Senior Army Chaplains (SrACHs) are the ACOM, ASCC, and DRU Command Chaplains. The SrACHs ensure Title 10 religious support on behalf of their commanders for the Soldiers, their Family members, and authorized civilians of those commands, throughout their areas of operations and responsibility. The SrACHs serve on the special and personal staff of their commanders, direct technical channel objectives and unity of effort in facilitating religious support for those commands, and serve as the CCHs representative to those commands for implementing the ACSP. The SrACHs are the primary facilitators of dialogue, situational awareness, and cooperation between their commands and the Office of the Chief of Chaplains (OCCH). The SrACHs retain technical channel training and readiness oversight throughout their affiliated command and control structure (see table 1–3).

b. Command Chaplains for ASCCs outside the continental United States (OCONUS) will establish and convene a Religious Support Coordination Council (RSCC) for religious support planning and execution in their command area of responsibility. Membership in the RSCC will include the following:

- (1) The OCONUS geographic ASCC Chaplain, who will chair the RSCC.
- (2) All Senior Chaplains (SrCH) within that ASCCs footprint (see para 1–16).
- (3) A UMT representative from any ACOM, non-geographic ASCC, and DRU with units in the footprint. The OCONUS geographic ASCC Chaplain will coordinate with the SrACHs of the appropriate commands, who will designate their representatives to the RSCC.

c. The SrACHs will not adjust the workload or priorities of any UMT on the installation outside the SrACHs affiliated command and control structure. The CCH may direct Branch specific tasks through the technical channel that affects the workload of any chaplain. (See app B, Religious Support Functions and Tasks on the Installation.)

1–17. Senior Chaplain

a. The Senior Chaplain (SrCH) provides executive-level, installation-wide religious support oversight and advice for the Army-designated Senior Commander (SC), and is the CCHs representative at the installation. The SrCH ensures religious support for Soldiers, their Family members, and authorized civilians on the installation, as a Title 10 entitlement and readiness enabler. The SrCH oversees a collaborative effort among the garrison and mission unit UMTs to achieve religious support synergy in support of CCH policy and SC intent. The SrCH annually presents the Installation CMRP for the SCs approval, including CMRPs from the garrison command and all mission units (tenant units) on the installation. The SrCHs serving OCONUS also participate in the appropriate RSCC (see para 1–16*b*).

b. The SrCH is responsible to the SC and the CCH for the integrated delivery of religious support across all commands on the installation. The SrCH collaborates with appropriate SrACHs whose commands have tenant units on the installation.

c. The CCH is responsible for designating the SrCH. The SrCH is ordinarily the senior grade Chaplain assigned to an Army unit on the installation, simultaneously serving as either the Garrison Chaplain or as a mission unit Chaplain. Where multiple commands have Chaplains of equally high grade, the SrCH is ordinarily that ranking Chaplain assigned to the SCs own mission unit. In all cases, the CCH retains responsibility for designating the SrCH. If the SrCH deploys, the CCH may designate an acting SrCH for the duration of the deployment.

d. The SrCH will validate exemptions for mission unit UMT personnel from participating in comprehensive, garrison-based religious support for the installation (see para 1–19*a*(3)).

e. The SrCH will not adjust the work load or priorities of other UMTs on the installation outside of the SrCHs affiliated command and control structure, except as authorized by regulation or approved by the CCH, and further delineated within the Installation CMRP. The CCH may direct Branch specific tasks through the technical channel that affects the workload of any Chaplain. (See app B, Religious Support Functions and Tasks on the Installation.)

1–18. Garrison Chaplain

a. The Garrison Chaplain is the command Chaplain for the Garrison Commander (GC). The Garrison Chaplain is responsible to the GC for garrison-based religious support advisement, planning, and execution. The Garrison Chaplain annually prepares the Garrison CMRP for the GCs approval. The Garrison UMT gives religious support in accordance with CCH policy and HQDA-approved Common Levels of Support to—

(1) Soldiers, their Family members, and authorized civilians assigned to the garrison (unit and distinctive faith religious support).

(2) All authorized attendees of garrison chapel and other garrison religious support programs (area and distinctive faith religious support).

(3) Low density faith group mission unit Soldiers and their Family members, through worship services, religious rites, and pastoral care, as applicable (distinctive faith religious support) (see table B–1, tasks 1.1, 2.1, 3.1).

(4) Deploying mission unit Soldiers and their Family members under the Army Force Generation (ARFORGEN) construct, beginning 30 days prior to deployment through 90 days after redeployment (unit and distinctive faith religious support) (see table B–2, tasks 10.2, 10.3, 10.4).

b. When the Garrison Chaplain also serves as the SrCH, additional roles and responsibilities apply (see para 1–16). When not serving as the SrCH, the Garrison Chaplain cooperates in the broadest possible way in support of the CCHs policy and the SCs religious support intent.

c. The Garrison Chaplain will not adjust the work load or priorities of mission unit UMTs on the installation, except as authorized by regulation or approved by the CCH. The CCH may direct Branch specific tasks through the technical channel that affects the workload of any Chaplain. (See app B, Religious Support Functions and Tasks on the Installation.)

1–19. Mission unit Chaplain

a. A mission unit Chaplain is the command Chaplain for the commander of a mission unit (tenant unit on an installation). The mission unit Chaplain is responsible to the mission unit commander for unit-based advisement, planning, and execution of religious support; and the operational and expeditionary readiness of UMTs within that command. The mission unit Chaplain annually prepares the unit CMRP for the mission unit commander’s approval. The mission unit UMT performs or provides religious support in accordance with CCH policy to—

(1) Soldiers, their Family members, and authorized civilians assigned to that mission unit (unit and distinctive faith religious support).

(2) Soldiers, Service members, and authorized civilians assigned to other units operating in the mission units area of operations and responsibility (area and distinctive faith religious support).

(3) Soldiers, their Family members, and authorized civilians assigned to other units on the installation (unit, area, and distinctive faith religious support) to enable comprehensive, garrison-based religious support across the installation.

(a) This support includes conducting garrison chapel services, religious rites, religious education, and youth ministry activities (See table B–1, tasks 1.1, 2.1, 3.1, 4.1, 4.2).

(b) This support includes participating in Garrison Chaplain roster support (On-Call Duty Chaplain, next-of-kin notification, funeral roster, and Chaplain Assistant chapel roster support) (See table B–1, task 3.2). Mission unit UMTs are exempt during periods of deployment (beginning 30 days prior to deployment through 90 days after redeployment) and during other critical mission unit requirements (as determined by the SrCH).

b. When the mission unit Chaplain also serves as the SrCH, additional roles and responsibilities apply (see para 1–16). When not serving as the SrCH, the mission unit Chaplain cooperates in the broadest possible way in support of the CCHs policy and the SCs religious support intent.

c. The mission unit Chaplain will not adjust the work load or priorities of the garrison UMT, or other mission unit UMTs on the installation outside of the mission unit Chaplain’s own unit of assignment, except as authorized by regulation or approved by the CCH. The CCH may direct branch specific tasks through the technical channel that affects the workload of any Chaplain. (See app B, Religious Support Functions and Tasks on the Installation.)

Chapter 2 Religious Support in the Army

2-1. General

a. Commanders provide opportunities for the free exercise of religion through their Chaplains, Chaplain Assistants, and other religious support members.

b. Participation in religious activities is voluntary. However, Army personnel may be required to provide administrative support before, during, or after worship services or religious activities in support of the CMRP.

c. Commanders will approve Soldiers requests for accommodation of specific religious practices whenever possible, subject to the limits of military necessity. Examples of accommodation include: Soldiers with religious dietary requirements, the wearing of religious apparel, and sufficient time for travel to and from religious activities (see AR 600–20 and AR 670–1).

d. Religious support activities using government facilities are a primary entitlement for Soldiers, their Family members, retirees, DOD civilians, and other authorized personnel. Access to or use of these facilities is subject to law, local command approval, and CMRP priorities. While certain activities may be open to the public, attendance at such activities does not lead to any claim on further pastoral ministry or coverage for unauthorized personnel.

2–2. The Unit Ministry Team

a. The UMT performs and/or provides the religious support activities described in paragraph 2–3, below. The UMT consists of, but is not limited to, at least one Chaplain and one Chaplain Assistant. The team concept exists throughout the various organizational levels of the Army.

b. The UMT is organized to respond to the religious, moral, and spiritual needs of Soldiers, their Families, and other authorized personnel. The UMT performs and/or provides unit, area, and distinctive faith group religious support. The UMT works with other support personnel when available such as musicians, choir directors, religious educators, distinctive faith group leaders, and chapel volunteers to create the best levels of support.

c. The responsive nature of religious support may require the UMT members to perform interdependent, dependent, and independent functions across commands. Chaplain Assistants may be required to perform certain mission functions independent of the Chaplain’s direct supervision. This is especially true when the Chaplain and Chaplain Assistant optimize separate skills to best accomplish the delivery of religious support. The Chaplain determines UMT priority of effort and decides when simultaneous, independent operations are necessary as an exception.

2–3. Religious support operations

a. The Army Chaplain Corps is organized to provide the most responsive religious support and Chaplain presence at the unit level across the full spectrum of Army operations. Religious support includes providing those aspects of religious education, clergy counsel and reassuring presence, authentic worship, and faith group expression that would otherwise be denied as a practical matter to personnel under the varied circumstances of military contingencies. Religious support operations are continuous, detailed, systematic, relevant, and responsive to the needs of the Army population. The UMT, and especially the Chaplain, provides specialized applications of professional religious skills to support the individual Soldier extending upward throughout the entire command structure and outward to the broadest command audience authorized.

b. Religious support is based on three major principles: Nurture the Living, Care for the Wounded, and Honor the Dead. The Army Chaplain Corps delivers religious support through two core competencies. They are expressed through 11 Religious Support Activities (RSAs) that apply to all mission unit UMTs and Garrison UMTs. (See table 2–1 and FM 1–05.)

(1) Professional military religious leader. Perform or provide religious support that meets the spiritual and religious requirements of the unique military culture.

(2) Professional military religious support staff advisor. Provide professional religious counsel to the command on the impact of religion on mission and operations, plan, program, resource, and execute religious support in military operations.

Religious support activities

Core competency: Professional Military Religious Leader.	Core competency: Professional Military Religious Support Staff Advisor.
Religious Services. Conduct worship, funeral, and memorial services.	Professional advice to the Commander and staff. Support to the command on all matters of religion, morals, and morale as affected by religion; the impact of religion on military missions; command climate assessments, memorial ceremonies, and other ceremonies.
Rites, sacraments, and ordinances. Conduct marriages, burials, baptisms, confirmations, blessings, daily prayers, and other required religious ministrations.	Management and administration. Manage UMT personnel, equipment, facilities, supplies, funds (APF and CTOF), and force structure.
Pastoral Care and Counseling. Conduct visitation, prayers, pastoral care and counseling, and religious encouragement to the Army family.	Moral and spiritual support. Conduct and provide advice on moral leadership training (see para 9–13), and programs of spiritual development and sustainment (prayer breakfasts, spiritual fitness events and so forth).

Religious education and youth ministry. Conduct activities of faith formation and sustainment, religious-based programming on marriage, parenting, youth, the single life, problem solving, communication skills, and other vocational aspects. Train chapel volunteers.	Religious support planning/operations. Participate and advise the command in planning operations and delivering religious support in all phases.
Family life ministry. Conduct Family life ministry training and counseling.	Religious support training. Train UMTs in professionally directed CCH training, unit religious support METL training, and spiritual resiliency.
Institutional ministry. Perform or provide religious support in hospitals and confinement or correctional facilities.

Chapter 3

Status, Roles, and Responsibilities of Chaplains

3-1. Professional status

a. Professional qualifications. The Chaplain is a religious professional whose educational qualifications and certification by a religious organization meet the appointment requirements of DODD 1304.19. Endorsement is the official formal statement by a competent authority of a religious organization attesting to the credentials of an individual as a qualified professional religious leader. Endorsing Agents represent various faith groups. All Endorsing Agents support the pluralistic requirements of the Army without relinquishing their respective faith demands. Chaplains are responsible to keep the command informed when they perceive a requirement that may exceed their endorsement accountability (see paras 3-2 and 8-9).

b. Dual functionality. Army Chaplains have a dual role as religious leaders and religious support staff officers. Their duties are prescribed by law, DOD policy, Army regulations, religious requirements, and Army mission. Each Chaplain also remains accountable to their assigned chain of command, and the Chaplain technical staff channels up through the CCH. Chaplains continually balance their responsibilities in both areas and are expected to avoid placing the technical channel in conflict with the chain of command. Commanders are expected to collaboratively support this dual accountability. Chaplains also remain fully accountable to the code of ethics and ecclesiastical standards of their endorsing faith group. In some instances, this may restrict Chaplain participation in a command event, but it does not relieve the Chaplain from providing for adequate religious support to accomplish the mission.

c. Governmental in nature-military. The Chaplain Corps conducts a constitutional and statutory mission that make it Governmental in nature-military.

d. Areas of responsibility. Chaplains have roles and responsibilities beyond their unit of assignment. Chaplains are responsible for unit, area, and distinctive faith group religious support. Assignment orders will document recurring coverage responsibilities of Chaplains beyond their assigned duties. Priority of support is usually unit, area, and distinctive faith groups.

(1) Unit religious support. Command-directed UMT religious support delivered to assigned unit.

(2) Area religious support. Command-directed UMT religious support delivered to units without assigned UMT assets or as an economy of force mission to maximize religious support in distributed operations. This also includes coordinated RS across the installation.

(3) Distinctive Faith Group religious support. Faith group specific religious support given to authorized personnel for the exercise of precise requirements of denominations or religions. Personnel and mission constraints determine the availability of distinctive faith group support. Distinctive faith group support is often provided on an area basis and augmented by distinctive faith group leaders (see chap 5).

e. Rank without command. A Chaplain has rank without command. Chaplains exercise general military authority to perform functions of operational supervision and control (10 USC 3581 and AR 600-20).

f. Non-combatants. Chaplains will not bear arms in combat or in unit combat skills training. Chaplains function as protected personnel under the Geneva Convention and are noncombatants as a matter of Army policy (FM 27-10). Chaplain activities in religious support operations will not compromise the noncombatant status.

g. Title. The proper title for a Chaplain is Chaplain regardless of military rank or professional title. When addressed in writing, the Chaplain's rank will be indicated in parentheses, for example, CH (CPT) (see AR 25-50 and AR 600-20).

h. Technical supervision. Chaplains provide technical supervision to and serve in the rating chain of subordinate Chaplains and Chaplain Assistants (AR 623-3).

3-2. Chaplain as professional military religious leader

a. General. All Chaplains provide for the nurture and practice of religious beliefs, traditions, and customs in a pluralistic environment to strengthen the spiritual lives of Soldiers and their Families. Chaplains conduct the religious programs and activities for the Command and provide professional advice and counsel on religious, moral, and ethical issues.

b. Roles and responsibilities.

(1) Chaplains are required by law to hold religious services for members of the command to which they are assigned, when practicable. Chaplains provide for religious support, pastoral care, and the moral and spiritual well-being of the command (10 USC 3547).

(2) Chaplains will minister to the personnel of their unit and/or facilitate the free-exercise rights of all personnel, regardless of religious affiliation of either the Chaplain or the unit member.

(3) Chaplains will perform their professional military religious leader ministrations in accordance with the tenets or faith requirements of the religious organization that certifies and endorses them (see DODD 1304.19).

(4) Chaplains will conduct or assist in arranging for burial services at the interring of members of the military service, retired military personnel, and other personnel as authorized by DOD policy, Army regulations, and applicable law.

(5) Chaplains, at their discretion, may perform marriage ceremonies for authorized personnel upon request and in accordance with the laws of the State or country where the marriage is to take place. Chaplain participation in marriage preparations and ceremonies is in keeping with individual conscience and distinctive faith requirements. Chaplains may perform marriage ceremonies for DOD military personnel overseas in compliance with all applicable civil law requirements of the host nations, Army regulations, and any other military command directives.

(6) Chaplains will not be required to perform a religious role (such as offering a prayer, reading, dedication, or blessing) in worship services, command ceremonies, or other events, if doing so would be in variance with the tenets or practices of their faith. Chaplains will make every effort to provide for required ministrations which they cannot personally perform.

(7) Chaplains will provide religious support for authorized personnel confined in military, civilian, or foreign confinement facilities (AR 190–47).

(8) The Chaplain is a teacher of religion and provides religious instruction. The Chaplain is responsible to the commander for the religious education program.

3–3. Chaplain as principle military religious advisor

a. General.

(1) Chaplains serve on the special or personal staff of a command with direct access to the commander (FM 6–0).

(2) Chaplains, in performing their duties, are expected to speak with a prophetic voice and must confront the issues of religious accommodation, the obstruction of free exercise of religion, and moral turpitude in conflict with the Army values.

b. Roles and responsibilities.

(1) Chaplains advise the commander and staff on matters of religion, morals, and morale, including, but not limited to—

- (a) The religious needs of assigned personnel.
- (b) The spiritual, ethical, and moral health of the command.
- (c) The personal impact of command policies, leadership practices, and management systems.
- (d) Plans or programs for advancing Army values and Soldier or Family resilience.
- (e) Religious support personnel matters and area coverage issues.
- (f) Construction, renovation, and maintenance of religious facilities.
- (g) Ethical, moral, and humanitarian implications of operational decisions.
- (h) Analysis of the impacts of indigenous religions on military operations.

(2) Chaplains plan, coordinate, execute, and supervise all religious support activities and resources for the Commander, including, but not limited to—

- (a) Religious leader liaison (RLL), religious analysis, and religious support products for all plans and orders.
- (b) Use of chapels and equipment (Common Table of Allowances (CTA) 50–909).
- (c) Management of ecclesiastical and administrative supplies, chapel furnishings, facilities, and other resources to support the CMRP.
- (d) Establishment and operation of Chaplain advisory councils and other staff, parish development programs, and chapel volunteer training.
- (e) Management of chapel tithes and offering fund (see chap 14).
- (f) Training of Chaplains and Chaplain Assistants.
- (g) Recommend TOE, MTOE, and TDA religious support adjustments.
- (h) Liaise with Chaplains of higher, equal, and subordinate headquarters.
- (i) Participate in the CCH Recruitment Program.
- (j) Publicize the CMRP.

(3) Chaplain professional and technical communication. Chaplains will solve problems and resolve issues at the lowest possible echelon. Chaplains wishing to communicate with the CCH on professional matters will do so through technical supervisory channels. Technical supervisory Chaplains are obligated to forward all formal communication directed to the CCH in a timely manner.

3-4. Duty considerations

- a. Commanders will ensure that Chaplains and Chaplain Assistants deploy with their assigned units.
- b. In a temporary military emergency, Chaplains may volunteer to participate or cooperate in nonreligious, noncombatant functions that contribute to the welfare of the command.
- c. Commanders will not—
 - (1) Detail a Chaplain as an exchange, athletic, recreation, drug or alcohol, suicide prevention program manager, graves registration, welfare, morale, unit victim advocate (UVA), sexual assault response coordinator (SARC), dining facility, personal affairs, information, education, human relations, equal opportunity, next of kin notification, prisoner escort, safety, survivor assistance, or civil affairs officer. However, in the event of the death of a Chaplain, a Chaplain(s) will be appointed to assist summary court officers in review of confidential records and personal effects when next of kin is present.
 - (2) Assign a Chaplain as military judge, trial counsel, defense counsel, financial liability investigating officer, investigating officer, or member, or adviser to investigative boards of officers. Chaplains may be required, however, to conduct inquiries into Chaplain-related activities or incidents. If applicable, Chaplains will forward an Endorsing Agent written restrictions regarding service on court martial duty to the respective command and legal counsel.
 - (3) Require a Chaplain to serve in a capacity that may require the revelation of privileged or sensitive information incidental to such a service.
 - (4) Ask a Chaplain to participate in any activity that violates their non-combatant status.
 - (5) Ask a Chaplain to reveal any privileged communication.

3-5. Religious services, rites, sacraments, ordinances, and religious ministrations

- a. Chaplain uniforms. When conducting religious services, a Chaplain will wear the military uniform, vestments, or other appropriate attire established by a religious organizations law or practice. The Chaplains scarf, stole, or tallit may be worn with the uniform. Chaplain ceremonial stoles are authorized for wear with Army Class A or dress/mess uniforms in conducting either religious services or military ceremonies.
- b. Chaplain services. Chaplains are authorized to conduct religious services, rites, sacraments, ordinances, and other religious ministrations as required by their respective distinctive faith group. Chaplains will not be required to take part in religious services, rites, sacraments, ordinances, and other religious ministrations when such participation would be at variance with the tenants of their faith.
- c. Chaplain fees. Chaplains will not accept nor prescribe fees for performing religious support activities that are part of their official military duty. Accepting gifts is subject to guidance of DOD 5500.7R.
- d. Chaplain travel.
 - (1) Chaplains are required to be spiritually fit and adaptive leaders, responsive to the Army needs, and relevant to the expression of faith. Chaplains are authorized to attend endorser-established ecclesiastical training, seminars, and religious updates in an official temporary duty (TDY) status. Ecclesiastical endorsement is a professional relationship essential to maintain military ministry credentials. Commanders support essential ecclesiastical training as part of the professional development of Chaplains. Chaplains will attend these training events in an on duty status and in appropriate uniform.
 - (2) Permissive temporary duty (PTDY) is also authorized for Chaplains to attend and participate in nonessential religious activities, conferences, seminars, or similar meetings to enhance their professionalism in service for the Army. Requests for PTDY will be in accordance with AR 600-8-10 and CCH guidelines and policies.
- e. Chaplain housing.
 - (1) Unmarried Chaplains and unaccompanied married Chaplains on an all others tour or dependent-restricted tour may compete for Family housing within the appropriate grade category. Chaplains, at their request, may choose a private unaccompanied personnel housing (UPH) apartment consisting of a bedroom, bathroom, living room, and kitchen or kitchenette. Temporary use of visiting officers quarters may be authorized under the provisions of AR 210-50.
 - (2) In overseas areas where administrative restrictions are placed on household goods weight allowances, unmarried Chaplains or Chaplains on an all others tour will be authorized the same weight allowance as an accompanied married officer of the same grade competing for comparable quarters.

Chapter 4 Status, Roles, and Responsibilities of Chaplain Assistants

4-1. General

a. General Order No. 253, issued by the War Department, Washington, DC, dated 28 December 1909, established the Chaplain Assistant, for the purpose of assisting the Chaplain in the performance of his official duties.” The Chaplain Assistant was established as a separate career management field (CMF 56) on 1 October 2001. DA Pam 611-21 and military occupational specialty (MOS) details Chaplain Assistant requirements.

b. The Chaplain Assistant as a member of the U.S. Army Chaplain Corps is a Soldier that provides expertise in religious support and religious support operations. Chaplain Assistants support the religious mission of the commander in responding to the needs of Soldiers, Family members, and other authorized personnel.

c. The Chaplain Assistant is a combatant. In addition to specialized religious tasks, the Chaplain Assistant performs and coordinates for the necessary security requirements to conduct religious support operations and minimize the personal security risks of the Chaplain.

d. Chaplain Assistants use their technical religious support expertise to assist the commander and Chaplain in shaping the environment to accomplish the Commanders religious support mission. Chaplain Assistants apply their skills along three core capabilities: integrate religious operations, spiritual readiness, and basic human interaction tasks. Chaplain Assistants integrate religious support operations in the JIIM environment, and within full spectrum operations at the tactical, operational, and strategic levels.

e. The Chaplain Assistant requires a SECRET security clearance. Initial entry accessions and In-Service reclassifications must possess a security eligibility of SECRET prior to award of MOS 56M. All MOS 56M Soldiers must have initiated a request for a security eligibility of SECRET (see DA Pam 611-21).

4-2. Privileged communication and sensitive information

(See chap 16-2, Confidential and Privileged Communications.)

4-3. Responsibilities

a. Chaplain Assistants provide a unique blend of technical religious support and tough Soldier competence. Chaplain Assistants work directly for Chaplains even though they remain a part of the larger enlisted structure of the unit of assignment. The many duties associated with carrying out the CMRP routinely exceed normal duty hours and predictability. The commander will consult with his assigned Chaplain before assigning a Chaplain Assistant with duties that do not directly relate to the functioning of the UMT.

b. Chaplain Assistants will be provided time off for duties performed during hours which fall outside the normal duty day as established by the unit training schedule, weekends, and holidays. All other absences will be in accordance with AR 600-8-10.

c. Chaplain Assistants will participate in UMT and unit training and become expert in their MOS, Warriors tasks, and battle drills. Chaplain Assistants will support both the mission unit and Garrison CMRP and be integrated into chapel activities at their home station or deployment location.

d. Chaplain Assistants directly support the religious program and work for a supervisory Chaplain and are accountable to the appropriate technical Chaplain Assistant NCO supervisory chain. The technical supervisory chain determines daily work schedule and accountability ISO mission requirements.

e. Chaplain Assistants will wear the Army uniform while on duty in accordance with AR 670-1.

f. Chaplain Assistants will not accept fees for performing any functions that are part of their official duties.

g. Chaplain Assistants may serve as chapel volunteer coordinators.

4-4. Roles of Chaplain Assistant noncommissioned officers, Senior and Master Chaplain Assistants noncommissioned officers, and Chief Chaplain Assistant noncommissioned officer

a. Advise their commanders and command sergeant majors on all matters pertaining to Chaplain Assistant (56M) training, manning, and growth and development of the Soldiers career track and lifelong learning cycle.

b. Coordinate and recommend UMT policy for the command.

c. Conduct UMT staff assistance visits and organization inspections of UMT activities, training, facilities, performance, and professional development and growth.

f. Lead or participate in unit training and command ceremonies, as required.

g. Monitor and recommend Chaplain Assistant personnel assignments and use to the command.

h. Facilitate the CMRP through effective coordination and collaboration with other senior NCOs of the Command.

i. Review the 56M portion of force structure documents (The Army Authorization Document System (TAADS), Personnel Manning Authorization Document (PMAD)).

- j.* Assist Soldiers in sustaining and developing Army values, moral leadership, and conflict resolution skills.
- k.* See DA Pam 611–21 for additional Chief Chaplain Assistant NCO (SGM), Master Chaplain Assistant NCO (MSG), Senior Chaplain Assistant NCO (SFC), and Chaplain Assistant NCO (SGT/SSG) responsibilities.

Chapter 5

Religious Support Personnel

5–1. Purpose

The mission and ministry of the Chaplaincy is supported, extended, and enhanced by other religious support personnel. These include Department of the Army civilians (DACs) assigned as Directors of Religious Education (DREs), religious education specialists, youth ministry specialists, administrative support personnel, shortage faith group clergy, musicians, distinctive faith group leaders (DFGLs), chapel auxiliaries, and volunteers. These individuals support the Chaplaincy in various professional and technical ways in bringing quality ministry and spiritual support to Soldiers and Family members.

5–2. Religious education personnel

a. Directors of Religious Education, religious education specialists, and youth ministry specialists serve as the Garrison Chaplains key resource persons in the area of religious education and spiritual formation. Religious education personnel analyze, develop, manage, present, and evaluate religious education programs and spiritual formation processes that facilitate the religious and spiritual development of Soldiers and Family members. Religious education is an expression of one's faith experience and plays an integral part in stabilizing character, heart, and soul during the rigors of deployment, combat, and reintegration.

b. The Garrison Chaplain provides direct supervision of the Directors of Religious Education (DRE), religious education specialists, or youth ministry specialists (Federal Civil Service employees) employed by the command. Usually the senior religious educator provides technical supervision of all other religious educators supporting the Garrison.

c. The senior Garrison DRE assists the Garrison Chaplain by providing guidance and direction for religious program design, curriculum and resource selection, teacher training, management of volunteers, and administration of the religious education program for all religious groups. Religious educators will also assist Chaplains and other individuals who request advice or support in securing educational resources needed for the practice of specific religious faith groups. The sole or senior religious educator serves as a member of the Garrison Chaplain's personal staff.

d. The CCH establishes the criteria for religious educators and will certify all candidates for religious education positions before employment. The CCH maintains a register of certified religious educators and verifies certification of applicants for position vacancies prior to Civilian Personnel Operations Center (CPOC) forwarding a referral list to the selecting official.

e. Religious educators hired as Federal Civil Service personnel will be appointed in excepted service positions in the 1701 Series – General Education and Training. Use of standardized position descriptions from the approved list in the Fully Automated System for Classification (FASCLASS) is required.

f. The CCH may also direct the employment of religious education program managers/directors to provide technical/professional administration, standardization, strategic planning, career management, Army-wide program coordination, and support for the professional religious educators on Army garrisons.

g. The CCH, as proponent for CMF 52 (Religious Education), expects continuing education and professional training of the civilian force to be conducted to the same high standards as the training and education of Chaplains and Chaplain Assistants. Training, education, and professional development of incumbent Army religious educators will be conducted in accordance with current Army Civilian Education System requirements and the CCH training priorities. Army religious educators will attend the CCH Annual Religious Education Training Conference and will complete a minimum of 5 Continuing Education Units (CEUs) per year as a condition of continued employment. The IMCOM Chaplain will publish annual training and education implementation guidance for Army religious educators.

h. Commanders are not authorized to eliminate, transfer, or otherwise alter requirements or authorizations for civilian religious education employees that exist on the table of distribution and authorizations (TDAs) of their organizations without consultation with the Headquarters, Installation Management Command Chaplain, and the CCH.

i. Religious educators will not be employed in lieu of the authorization for a Chaplain or Chaplain Assistant.

j. Religious educators will not conduct chapel or field worship services and will not assume supervisory responsibility for chapel or field worship services.

5–3. Contracting religious education personnel

a. Contracting the services of Directors of Religious Education, religious education specialists, or youth ministry specialists is authorized as an exception to policy. Chaplains remain responsible for the CMRP.

- b.* Exceptions to this policy must be approved by the Headquarters, IMCOM, and must meet the following criteria:
- (1) No Chaplain, DOD civilian, or lay volunteer is available to perform the function. This must be documented in the request for exception to policy.
 - (2) A fully documented religious program need exists.
 - (3) The services of a civilian religious educator or youth ministry specialist may only be procured by means of a non-personal services (NPS) contract in compliance with the Federal Acquisition Regulations (FAR), Part 37.
 - (4) The statement of work will be described using a per-service basis only.
 - (5) The contract cannot exceed 12 months. At the end of each 12-month period the need must be reevaluated, and the request for exception to policy must be resubmitted.
 - (6) No NPS contracts will be authorized for work described and established under government job descriptions for government employees, nor will a contract cover all the duties and functions of a specific position description established by the U.S. Government.

5-4. Contracting for religious services from civilian clergy

- a.* Contracting the Services of civilian clergy is authorized as an exception to policy when the Army is unable to provide a military Chaplain to meet the religious worship and sacramental needs of Soldiers and their Family members.
- b.* Exceptions to this policy must be approved by the IMCOM Chaplain, or for U.S. Army Medical Command units, by the Command Chaplain, Headquarters, U.S. Army Medical Command (MEDCOM).
- c.* Contracts must meet the following criteria:
- (1) No active duty or Reserve Component Chaplain of any Service is available to perform the function as documented in the request of exception to policy.
 - (2) A fully documented religious program need exists.
 - (3) The services of civilian clergy may only be procured by means of a non-personal services contract in compliance with the FAR, Part 37.
 - (4) The statement of work will be described using a per-service basis only.
 - (5) The contract cannot exceed 12 months. At the end of each 12-month period the need must be reevaluated and the request for exception to policy must be resubmitted.

5-5. Distinctive faith group leaders

- a.* The DFGLs may provide ministry on an exception to policy basis when military Chaplains are not available to meet the faith group coverage requirements of Soldiers and Families. A DFGL provides a very precise service for a proscribed period of time to further the CMRP in the free exercise of religion. The DFGL has no inherent authority or implied permission to conduct religious activities outside of the CMRP.
- b.* Distinctive faith group leaders—
- (1) Are volunteers.
 - (2) Do not function as military Chaplains or as a separate military religious authority.
 - (3) Must be sponsored and supervised by an assigned Chaplain.
 - (4) May collect offerings at services in accordance with chapter 15 of this regulation.
 - (5) Military or nonmilitary member will not be paid or receive any services, travel, or other personal expenses from APF, but is entitled to the funding of distinctive faith group religious activities in accordance with the approved CMRP and local policies governing CTOF.
 - (6) Will not perform collective Protestant Services.
 - (7) A DFGL performs a service within the CMRP in cooperation with the Command and the Chaplaincy for U.S. authorized personnel. There is no international, interagency, or coalition role even though services generally remain open to the public.
- c.* The DFGLs seeking to provide religious services in U.S. Government controlled facilities must submit an application with the approval and sponsorship of a local Chaplain to either the SrCH or the senior command Chaplain at the division or higher level in deployed situations. The SrCH or appropriate command Chaplain endorses the request and forwards to the appropriate IMCOM or MEDCOM Chaplain for approval. DFGLs will not conduct services before approval by the IMCOM or MEDCOM Command Chaplains. The DFGL status must be resubmitted for approval upon change of the sponsoring Chaplain and is required to be renewed annually. The prospective DFGL must—
- (1) Present an original (no copy) written approval by a religious organization on official letterhead.
 - (a)* The written approval acts as the credential by a religious organization recognized by the Armed Forces Chaplains Board (AFCB) or recognized as a tax-exempt religious organization by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) and in possession of an IRS tax-exempt number. (The IRS tax exempt number must be included in the approval description for non-AFCB recognized organizations.)
 - (b)* The distinctive faith group approval description will include the groups origin and general worship practices, the length of time it has existed, the number of members of the faith group, and the current ecclesiastical standing of the applicant for the purposes of serving as a DFGL. In all cases the letter will clearly state the sponsoring faith group's concurrence that the DFGL serves in compliance with the appropriate CMRP under the supervision of the Chaplain.

- (2) Document the need for the requested distinctive faith group service.
- (3) Explain why the service cannot be conducted by a military Chaplain.
- (4) Explain why the local Chaplain-led services cannot meet the specific theological/distinctive faith requirements of the group.

d. The IMCOM and MEDCOM Command Chaplains will maintain a register of approved DFGLs and forward the applicable names of DFGLs to the respective ASCC Command Chaplains to enhance situational awareness and collaboration in their areas of responsibility.

e. The SrCH or the senior command Chaplain (division or higher) managing the CMRP using DFGLs may suspend the participation of the DFGL for up to 30 days in response to instances that measurably hinder the CMRP.

(1) If suspension is warranted, the suspending authority must provide the distinctive faith group congregation a minimum of two weeks notice to suspend. The notice does not include the reason, but does include details to assist the worshipping congregation in finding temporary free exercise opportunities where possible.

(2) The suspending authority will investigate the issues requiring suspension and provide a narrative report of such to the SC of the installation or unit, and to the appropriate senior technical command Chaplain (IMCOM or MEDCOM). The narrative will include a recommendation to resume the program with the incumbent DFGL, or a recommendation to terminate the incumbent DFGL along with an application for a new DFGL replacement.

(3) The appropriate senior technical command Chaplain (IMCOM or MEDCOM) will approve or disapprove the permanent dismissal of a DFGL within the 30 days of the beginning of the suspension.

(4) The DFGL furthers the free exercise requirements of the CMRP in cooperation with the senior Chaplain responsible for executing the program. Suspension or dismissal of a DFGL creates an immediate shortfall in the CMRP and should not occur unless issues are irresolvable any other way. Reasons for suspension should be of a nature that profoundly impact negatively upon the command and the CMRP. These considerations would include: personal moral conduct that brings reproach upon Army values and command discipline, refusal to comply with authorized regulations and guidelines, criminal activity, or a disregard for the pluralistic environment of the Army.

5-6. Chapel auxiliaries and chapel volunteers

a. Military personnel, their Families, and authorized civilian employees may serve as volunteer workers in religious activities. Volunteers from outside the military community must be approved by the command and will perform their functions under the direction of the SrCH and the supervision of designated Chaplains or DRE staff members.

b. Chapel volunteers will be registered by the Chapel Volunteer Coordinator and will comply with the requirements for background checks, registration, and documentation of hours worked in accordance with the Chapel Volunteer Management System where appropriate. Specific management requirements are listed in the revised HQ IMCOM Chapel Volunteer Management System Implementing Guidance.

c. Chaplains and DREs will provide training opportunities to help volunteers develop their religious knowledge, education, administrative, and other skills.

d. Chaplains or DREs will ensure that chapel volunteers are appropriately recognized for their service in as many venues as practical including an annual command or installation volunteer appreciation event.

5-7. Chapel watch care and childcare

a. Religious education events and other chapel programs may include provisions for watch care or child care at chapel facilities.

(1) Watch care is short-term service for infants and children whose parent or guardian is participating on location in a chapel activity. Chapel watch care is typically provided by approved chapel volunteers or NPS contracted individuals contracted on a per event/per hour basis.

(2) Chapel child care is short-term service provided by child and youth services (CYS) in the chapel facilities, governed by a memorandum of agreement or understanding, as a collaborative effort between CYS and the Garrison Chaplain (or Medical Treatment Facility Chaplain) in support of command religious activities. Chapel child care is designed as the care normally provided by CYS to children ages 4 weeks to preschool independent of the location of the parent or guardian to the chapel facility. (This can apply by exception up to age 11 for support during worship services, religious education programs, enrichment retreats, and other official religious activities.)

b. The CYS program provides an umbrella structure for childcare, which includes use of chapel facilities for onsite child care (AR 608-10, para 7-26, Short Term Alternative Childcare). The CYS conducted childcare in chapel and religious education facilities will generally not require facility structural alteration, and the religious significance and décor of chapels will be maintained. Garrison proponents for fire, health, and safety will determine and monitor adherence with locally established chapel child care facility standards.

c. The CMRP outlines the financial responsibility for costs of childcare for Garrison religious programs to include caregivers and basic facility equipment and supplies.

d. The CYS child care personnel supporting chapel/Chaplain-sponsored programs will be CYS employees and meet all CYS employment requirements to include background checks and training. The CYS personnel pay will be in accordance with Child and youth program assistant (CYPA) pay plan. A CYS employee will be designated to coordinate all child care in support of chapel activities.

e. The Garrison Chaplain will provide space for child care in selected chapels/religious education facilities in compliance with fire, cleanliness, hygiene, and safety standards. Designated chapel facilities used for child care will include: age-appropriate furniture, storage, toys, and staff workspace. Watch care and childcare personnel supporting the religious program work with military chapel staff members to maintain cleanliness and accountability of facilities and equipment as part of the chapel childcare program.

6-14. Accession requirements

a. Chaplains serve in the U.S. Military as representatives of their distinctive faith group. The U.S. Government provides for the free exercise of religion through the broadest possible representation of credentialed professional religious clergy made available to the military through the process of endorsement. Endorsement is the official formal statement by competent authority of a religious organization attesting to the credentials of an individual as a qualified professional religious leader. The various faith groups are referred to as endorsing agencies (DODD 1304.19 and DODI 1304.28).

b. Chaplains come from the ranks of professional religious leaders who volunteer to serve in a military setting. The Chaplains remain accountable to their Endorsers in all matters pertaining to the continued maintenance of their credentials while they perform religious functions in the Army. If a Chaplain does something to jeopardize the religious credentials, the sponsoring agency may withdraw its endorsement. A Chaplain can no longer function as a Chaplain when an endorsement is withdrawn, and separation from service actions must begin. Chaplains must maintain a healthy relationship with their respective Endorsers while serving in the Army.

c. Chaplains are accessioned into the Army based upon compliance with a variety of factors prescribed in DOD policy, CCH policy, and formal accession board actions. See table 6-1 for accessioning requirements and procedures.

d. Initial appointment of grade for the respective components will be made in accordance with AR 135-100 and DA Pam 165-17. See DA Pam 165-17, table 2-1 for conditions and procedures for grade and date of rank (DOR) determinations.

Qualified participants in this program may accession as an Army Chaplain in 1 of the 3 components of the Army Chaplaincy upon completion of their educational and religious faith group requirements.

b. The USAR CCP provides training and basic orientation to the duties and responsibilities of an Army Chaplain on military installations, specialized military settings, and troop program units (TPU). g. The Commandant, USACHCS, will task the Director of Training (DOT) to evaluate Chaplain candidate performance on DA Form 1059 (Service School Academic Evaluation Report- AER) for each phase of Chaplain Basic Officer Leadership Course (CHBOLC) that the Chaplain Candidate completes during split training options and upon completion of CHBOLC. All AERs will be forwarded to the Candidate's Command as directed in their orders. (2) Graduation from a qualifying educational institution and engagement in fulfilling religious professional experience requirements leading to full certification by the candidates religious organization or group.

b. For either option, to enter the CCP, an individual must have approval from a religious organization registered with the DOD. This approval is only for participation in the CCP and does not constitute approval for the individual to be accessioned as an Army Chaplain. This approval must be maintained for the length of the individual's participation in the CCP.

c. Any transfer between the ARNG and USAR requires a new ecclesiastical approval.

d. A break in full-time student status requires approval from ARNG Staff Chaplain for ARNG Chaplain Candidates, and from DACH-RCI Directorate for USAR Chaplain Candidates. The ARNG recognizes Chaplain Candidates as students or awaiting ecclesiastical endorsement, but administratively processes them as it does any regular branch officer.

b. Chaplain Candidates have a maximum of 6 years to finish their educational and ecclesiastical requirements while in the CCP. This period is not an entitlement, but an opportunity to participate in the candidate program long enough to complete their particular faith group or organizations requirements to be recognized as a fully qualified religious professional.

c. Chaplain Candidates will be addressed orally by their rank and will be identified, in writing, as Chaplain Candidate.

d. Chaplain Candidates will not be assigned to Army Chaplain positions.

e. Chaplain Candidates will not perform Chaplain duties.

f. Chaplain Candidates are not mobilization assets and will not deploy OCONUS.

7-6. Chaplain Candidate uniform

a. Chaplain Candidates will wear Staff Specialist Branch insignia. Under no conditions will the Chaplain Candidate wear the Chaplain Branch insignia.

7-12. Chaplain Candidate separation

Separation may occur subject to the following:

a. Loss/change of ecclesiastical approval.

The Chaplain Candidate is responsible for ensuring that DACH-1 receives the new ecclesiastical approval before the withdrawal of the prior ecclesiastical approval.

b. Adverse personnel actions.

(1) Upon notification of pending or probable adverse action to be taken by a Commander against a Chaplain Candidate, the appropriate senior or supervisory Chaplain will immediately inform the DACH-RCI Directorate/ARNG Staff Chaplain, direct the Chaplain Candidate concerned to contact their individual distinctive faith group personnel, and notify the DACH-RCI Directorate/ARNG Staff Chaplain when that action is complete.

(2) Chaplains will not contact distinctive faith personnel responsible for any Chaplain Candidate in regard to pending or probable adverse personnel actions without the written authorization of the CCH or designee.

Chapter 8 Chaplain Personnel Management

8-1. Proponent

The CCH manages all AC Chaplain assignments through the DACH-1. Refer to DA Pam 165-17 for instructions, information, and further guidance regarding Chaplain personnel management.

8-2. Appointment as Chaplain

a. Professionally qualified clergy, who meet the requirements of their respective religious organization (RO), may be appointed as Chaplains to provide for the free exercise of religion within the Army (see DODD 1304.19, AR 135-100, and AR 601-100). Upon appointment, Chaplains represent their RO and serve as commissioned officers in the U.S. Army. (The RO is also referred to as the endorsing agency. Some endorsing agencies represent multiple ROs. However, any change in RO must be reported in accordance with para 8-9, below.)

b. Chaplain accession requirements (see chap 6, para 6-15 and table 6-1).

c. The CCH may grant waivers relating to age, moral character, and appointment grade in order to address special religious needs of the Army.

d. All applications for Chaplain appointments are managed by Office, Chief of Chaplains (DACH-1), Office of the Chief of Chaplains, 2700 Army Pentagon, Washington, DC 20310-2700.

8-3. Appointment from Active Duty, Reserve, or prior service personnel

a. Chaplain RC or Regular Army (RA) appointments require prior CCH approval of an ecclesiastical endorsement (DD Form 2088) submitted by an Armed Forces Chaplains Board listed Ecclesiastical Endorsing Agent.

b. Chaplain Candidates (Staff Specialist Branch), active duty or reserve officers in other branches, or prior service personnel must apply for appointment to the Chaplain Corps. HRC will process all RA appointment applications recommended by the DA Accessions Board and approved by the CCH.

c. The JFHQ will process all CCH approved Army National Guard Chaplain appointments.

d. Active Duty (AD) requests from Army National Guard of the United States (ARNG) or U.S. Army Reserve (USAR) Chaplains must process their application through command channels (USAR through USARC or HRC as appropriate, ARNG through their Joint Forces Headquarters, National Guard Bureau).

e. Chaplain candidates, Intra or Inter-service transfers, and prior service members must apply for Chaplain appointment through their Reserve Components (RC) recruiters or ARNG State Officer Strength Manager (OSM).

8-4. Entry on Active Duty

a. Chaplains accessioned to active duty as company grade officers may receive up to 3 years DOR (if eligible) upon inclusion on the active duty list.

b. Field grade Chaplain accessions will receive a DOR equal to their date of entry on active duty (EAD) in accordance with AR 601-100 and DA Pam 165-17.

c. Chaplains are managed by Active Duty List (ADL) position and not by year group.

8-5. Career status

a. Chaplains accessioned in the AC receive an RA commission with indefinite appointment. In accordance with AR 350-100, paragraph 2-2, newly accessioned AD Chaplains incur a 3-year active duty service obligation (ADSO) beginning with their date of EAD.

b. Chaplains accessioned for ARNG or USAR receive an RC commission with indefinite appointment. Reserve Component Chaplains requesting RA appointment must adhere to the appointment requirements of AR 601-100 and this regulation.

c. Military service obligation (MSO). Individuals appointed as Chaplains are obligated by law (10 USC 651) and regulation (AR 350-100) to complete 8 years of AD or RC service prior to voluntary separation.

d. All Chaplains are required to have on file at the Office of the Chief of Chaplains a valid DD Form 2088 from an Armed Forces Chaplains Board listed Ecclesiastical Endorsing Agent. Endorsing Agents must submit a new DD Form 2088 to the CCH for acceptance/approval at the following Chaplain career points:

(1) Application for accession to AD, RC, or Active Guard (AGR).

(2) Transition between components (AD to RC or RC to AD).

(3) Change in RO. Chaplains without a valid DD Form 2088 on file with OCCH are subject to involuntary separation under the provisions of AR 600-8-24, AR 135-175, and the Reserve Officer Personnel Management Act (ROPMA).

8-6. Professional development

Commanders will ensure that Chaplains receive necessary professional development training by encouraging and funding attendance at technical and professional training events.

a. As a progressive process of training and education, Chaplain professional development equips Chaplains for leadership assignments by enhancing their professional, clinical, and personal skills. Professional development derived from a balanced combination of institutional schooling, self-development, realistic training, and professional experience equips Chaplains with the attributes and technical competencies necessary for worldwide religious support.

b. The Army Chaplain Life Cycle Model identifies those professional Chaplain character attributes and core competencies essential for performing or providing effective ministry to Army personnel and Family members. It includes institutional training, advanced schooling and education, progressive assignments, and self-development. The goals are combat readiness, peacetime mission accomplishment, development of senior leadership of the branch, and the management of religious support.

c. The DACH-3/5/7 determines branch training requirements and Chaplain lifecycle training synchronization.

d. Chaplains are eligible for assignments based on professional development, assignment history, specialized skills and training, grade, and military education.

e. DACH-1.

(1) Manages Army Educational Requirement System (AERS) and determines the required length of initial utilization tours and ADSO following Advanced Civilian Schooling (ACS).

(2) Manages the slating process and enrollment of Chaplains selected for branch functional and military education courses.

(3) Prepares and conducts all DACH advisory selection boards and administers board results.

(4) Manages requests for constructive or equivalent credit.

(5) Determines qualifications for and awards Chaplain skill identifiers.

(6) Manages ecclesiastical endorsements for Chaplains in all components.

f. The ARNG Chaplains are managed by states and coordinated with the ARNG Staff Chaplain. The USAR Chaplains are managed through their respective command channels.

8-7. Chaplain personnel assignments

a. The CCH has assignment authority for all AC Chaplains.

b. The DACH-1 manages personnel actions policy.

c. The DACH-1 manages and executes all active duty Chaplain assignments.

d. The HRC, USARC and JFHSC manage RC Chaplain assignments according to the following guidelines:

(1) In collaboration with USARC and HRC, USARC subordinate command Chaplains determine Chaplain manning strategies for incoming troop program unit (TPU) Chaplains.

(2) The DACH-RCI in coordination with HRC, assigns Individual Ready Reserve (IRR), Active Guard and Reserve (AGR), and Drilling Individual Mobilization Augmentee (DIMA) Chaplains.

(3) The JFHSC recommends to their commanders ARNG Chaplain and Chaplain Assistant assignments.

8-8. Voluntary and mandatory release from Active Duty

a. The CCH is the approving authority for AC Chaplain voluntary resignations, retirements, and non-regulatory ADSO waiver requests.

b. When a Chaplains tour of AD is terminated due to discharge or retirement, the period of service will be characterized as Honorable, General (Under Honorable Conditions), Under Other Than Honorable, or Dishonorable, depending on the circumstances. Characterization of service normally reflects the officers pattern of behavior and duty performance rather than an isolated incident. However, there are circumstances in which conduct reflected by a single incident may provide the basis of characterization of service.

c. Unless waived by the CCH, Chaplains who have incurred an ADSO because of participation in either the Advanced Civilian Education or Clinical Pastoral Education programs must complete the term of obligated service prior to voluntary separation.

d. The CCH will make maximum use of voluntary release programs to minimize involuntary separations.

e. The CCH will establish branch eligibility criteria for participation in voluntary separation incentive programs, when available.

f. Mandatory removal date (MRD) is the date an officer must separate from AD due to non-selection for promotion (MAJ, LTC) or because of reaching maximum age or years of service set by public law. The CCH will consider all MRD deferment requests on a case-by-case basis and utilize such deferments as needed to address critical branch personnel needs. The Assistant Secretary of the Army for Manpower Reserve Affairs ASA(M&RA) is the final approval authority for MRD deferment requests.

8-9. Loss/change of ecclesiastical endorsement

a. All Chaplains are required to have on file with OCCH an Ecclesiastical Endorsement (DD Form 2088) submitted for them by an AFCB Listed Endorsing Agent. If an Endorsing Agent withdraws a Chaplain's ecclesiastical endorsement, then the officer must immediately cease from all religious activities, that is, performance of rites, ceremonies, services, pastoral counseling, and so forth. Under no circumstances will the Chaplain perform any Chaplain functions without a valid ecclesiastical endorsement.

b. A withdrawal of ecclesiastical endorsement is official when a Chaplain's Endorsing Agent notifies the CCH of the loss of endorsement in writing. In accordance with DODI 1304.28 and AR 600-8-24, the CCH will then notify the Chaplain of the loss of endorsement and offer the following 4 options:

(1) Seek a new ecclesiastical endorsement from an AFCB Listed Endorsing Agent. If another ecclesiastical endorsement is not obtained, the Chaplain will undergo involuntary separation in accordance with AR 600-8-24 or AR 135-175.

(2) Submit a voluntary retirement request, if eligible.

(3) Submit an unqualified resignation request. If the Chaplain has not fulfilled their MSO, then the request is forwarded to the ASA(M&RA) for waiver approval.

(4) Request a branch transfer. If a Chaplain is granted an appointment in another branch, the officer will not wear the Chaplain branch insignia or be assigned to a Chaplain position.

c. Chaplains seeking a change in ecclesiastical endorsement must submit a request to OCCH, DACH-1 and coordinate the action with both current and prospective Endorsing Agents to avoid a loss of endorsement. As the approving authority, the CCH may convene a special advisory board to review the circumstances surrounding a Chaplain's request for a change in ecclesiastical endorsement.

8-10. Adverse personnel actions

When notified of an impending command adverse action against a Chaplain (AC or RC), the SrCH, USARC, ARNG Staff Chaplain, or senior supervisory Chaplain in a deployed environment will—

- a. Immediately inform the CCH, DCCH, or Chief of Staff, OCCH.
- b. Direct the Chaplain concerned to contact their Ecclesiastical Endorsing Agent. No Chaplain will contact the Endorsing Agent of any other Chaplain about pending or probable adverse personnel actions without CCH permission.

8-11. Chief of Chaplains prerogatives

The CCH reserves the right to discuss the health, welfare, and behavior of all Chaplains with their respective Endorsing Agents. The trust relationship between the Chaplain Branch and religious organizations is maintained by open communication and the exchange of information regarding the well-being of endorsed Chaplains and Family members. However, the Privacy Act may preclude the CCH from providing Endorsing Agents with requested information because of confidentiality or the restrictions of an on-going investigation.

Section II

Chaplain Training

9-3. Domains of training

- a. Chaplain training builds on and sustains professional competencies to function effectively as religious leaders and staff officers in the Army. Training is a continuous process throughout the Chaplain's career and is conducted across the 3 domains of Army Training: institutional, operational, and self-development.*
- b. Institutional training for Chaplains includes: the CHBOLC, the Chaplain Captains Career Course (C4), the Brigade Functional Area Qualification Course (the branch component training of Intermediate Level Education (ILE)), Joint Professional Military Education, Senior Service College, Advanced Civil Schools, and Chaplain functional courses as part of the Professional Military Education (PME) for Chaplains.*
- (1) The DACH-1 assigns Active Component (AC) Chaplains to attend institutional courses at USACHCS.
 - (2) The USAR Chaplains.
 - (a) The respective General Officer level of command schedules TPU USAR Chaplains to attend CHBOLC, C4, and ILE (correspondence or USAR training school).
 - (b) The DACH-RCI schedules IRR USAR Chaplains to attend CHBOLC.
 - (c) The USAR Chaplain requests attendance at all Chaplain functional (PME) courses through the USARC Chaplain.
 - (3) The ARNG Chaplains attend institutional and Chaplain functional courses through coordination with their JFHSC.
 - (4) Chaplains are board selected to attend ILE Resident and Regional Training, and the Army War College Resident and Non-Resident. The DACH-1 notifies AC and USAR Chaplains when they are selected for these courses. Chaplains not selected to attend the ILE resident or regional training must complete the training by either Distance Learning or through The Army School System (TASS).
- c. Operational training consists of command directed and branch specific training.*
- (1) Command directed unit training. Training that is conducted in the Chaplain's unit of assignment such as: Warrior Task Training, Combat Training Center Rotations, and other general and/or direct mission essential task training directed by the Commander. This also includes any UMT self directed unit oriented proficiency training. All Chaplains support and participate in their unit training plan, however, Chaplains will not bear arms (see para 3-1f).
 - (2) Chaplaincy-specific training. This training is directed by the CCH training strategy and planned and executed at the installation, state, region, or command level. It includes collective core capability mission essential tasks. All Chaplains are expected to support and participate in consolidated UMT training. Branch designed training includes the large scale training conferences conducted annually by OCCH as Senior Leaders Development Training (SLDT) and CAST. The UMT also participates in meeting the Annual Training and Leader Development Guidance of the appropriate ACOM, ASCC, USARC, JFHSC, and DRU Command Chaplain.

d. Self-development training focuses on lifelong learning. Self-development allows individuals to pursue personal and professional development goals that cannot be met by institutional and operational training. Every Chaplain pursues a lifetime goal of professional and personal growth to sustain peak proficiency and professional expertise. Chaplains develop and regularly update a self-development action plan. Supervisors will provide regular feedback on performance and assist their subordinates in developing/refining a development action plan to guide performance improvement.

9-4. Chaplain Professional Reinforcement Training

a. This program is designed by the Chaplaincy to increase individual Chaplain pastoral skills and improve Chaplain supervisory and coaching capabilities through the professional military education programs of instruction and unit based operational training. The initiative has a centrally managed structure with an emphasis on decentralized execution.

b. Active Component Chaplains on their first assignment are required to participate in a Pastoral Skills Training Program focusing on either Family life counseling skills or Clinical Pastoral Education. Chaplain supervisors of initial term Chaplains are required to complete a personalized Individual Development/Spiritual Development Plan (IDP/SDP) on each of their newly assigned Chaplains. The Distance Learning Systems staff at USACHCS will enroll ARNG and USAR CHBOLC graduates into the CPRT distance learning course.

c. The CPRT has 4 elements: Distance Learning (dL), Pastoral Skills Training (PST), Unit-Based Operational Training, and Professional Self-Development Training. CPRT requires initial term Active Component Chaplains to complete one phase of PST-FL or one phase of Pastoral Skills Training - Clinical (PST-CL). Chaplains in the USAR and ARNG are required to complete distance learning materials as a pre-requisite for attendance at the C4 resident phase (C23). Distance Learning consists of 51 on-screen hours and an estimated 125 additional study hours (176 hours total).

(1) Distance learning. This training currently consists of C4 Phase 1 which applies only to Chaplains in the USAR and ARNG.

(2) Pastoral skills training. Develops the individual Chaplain's pastoral skills and is composed of two parts: PST-FL and PST-CL. The CPRT requires initial term AC Chaplains to complete one phase of PST-FL or one phase of PST-CL. PST is conducted in integrated units that comprise a complete training process. A complete unit of PST includes 100 clock hours of training conducted over a 12-20 week period. Typically, a Chaplain participating in PST will meet with a PST training group for one day each week and once separately each week with the supervising trainer. Total training time each week is 5-8 hours.

(3) Unit-based operational training. This training is conducted at the unit level and consists of 2 critical components:

(a) Mission Essential Task List (METL) based UMT training built on an assessment of the UMTs ability to execute the collective battle staff and individual tasks required to accomplish the mission of their unit as envisioned in the commanders training guidance, CMETL, and DMETL.

(b) Supervisory counseling (professional growth/career development, event, and performance) and professional development coaching.

(4) Professional self-development. This training is the responsibility of the individual and focuses on expanding personal knowledge and experience to supplement training from the institutional and operational domains. It is based on a person's self-assessment and enhances professional skills for the present position or prepares the individual for future positions and responsibilities. Each person should seek advice and counsel from schools, leaders, mentors, and peers to determine individual strengths and weaknesses. The goal is to create a culture of lifelong learning through professional self-development.

9-5. Chaplain Advanced Education Program

a. The Chaplain Advanced Education Program (CAEP) exists to provide selected Chaplains with the skills necessary to meet certain assignment specific requirements. DACH-1 is responsible for convening a CAEP DA Central Regulatory Selection Board annually (AR 621-1). The board nominates qualified AC Chaplain applicants to attend CPE training and Advanced Civil School for fully and partially funded civilian degrees at approved institutions for up to 15 months.

(1) Graduates of ACS will apply their specialized training in Army Educational Requirements Systems positions such as CPE Supervisor, pastoral counseling, Family Life Ministry, Ethics, Biomedical Ethics, World Religions, Business Administration/Comptrollership, and other disciplines deemed necessary by the CCH.

(2) The Commander MEDCOM in coordination with the CCH validates CPE requirements for MEDCOM and appoints the MEDCOM Command Chaplain as the Field Operating Executive Agent for Army CPE. The Commander

MEDCOM also funds MEDCOM established CPE programs and accreditation/certification fees and provides for CPE supervision.

(3) Students are selected each year to attend CPE training in accordance with Army requirements. The MEDCOM CPE programs (1 year in duration) meet the requirements for the 7R skill identifier.

b. Chaplains completing ACS, CPE, and Supervisor-In-Training incur an active duty service obligation for a period equal to 3 times the length of the schooling and training but not more than 3 years in a utilization tour (AR 350-100) unless released sooner for the convenience of the U.S. Government.

c. The CCH will maintain Family Life Chaplain Training and Resource Centers (FLCTRCs) to support Family Life training and ministry. These resource centers support the schooling of Family life Chaplains and Supervisors in Training and are staffed by a Chaplain Assistant and a Family Life qualified Chaplain Supervisor. These centers will provide distance clinical supervision, curriculum, and professional development for Family life Chaplains in the field.

Section III

Chaplain Assistant Training

9-6. Levels of training

Chaplain Assistant (56M) training prepares a Soldier to perform as a member of the Unit Ministry Team in increasing levels of responsibility. The institutional training for the Chaplain Assistant is as follows:

a. Skill Level 1 courses (MOS 56M10).

(1) Advanced Individual Training (AIT).

(2) Total Army Reclassification Chaplain Assistants Course for Soldiers of all components who have completed one AIT and are unable to attend AIT at USACHCS.

(3) Chaplain Fund Clerk Course.

b. Skill Level 2 courses (MOS 56M20). Warrior Leaders Course (WLC), a Noncommissioned Officer Education System (NCOES) course offered at Army Training Centers, National Guard Academies, and U.S. Army Reserve Academies. The WLC is a prerequisite for attending the Advanced Leaders Course (ALC).

c. Skill Level 3 courses (MOS 56M30).

(1) Chaplain Assistant ALC, an NCOES course offered at the Soldier Support Institute NCO Academy, National Guard Academies (Phase 1 only), and Army Reserve Academies (Phase 1 and 2). ALC prepares a 56M to work at brigade level. ALC is a prerequisite for attending Senior Leaders Course (SLC).

(2) Battle Staff (ASI 2S).

(3) Chaplain Fund Manager Course.

d. Skill Level 4 courses (MOS 56M40). Chaplain Assistant Supervisor SLC, an NCOES course offered at the Soldiers Support Institute NCO Academy, National Guard Academies, and Army Reserve Academies.

e. Skill Level 5 courses (MOS 56M50). Senior Chaplain Assistant Noncommissioned Officer Course.

(1) Senior Staff NCO Course.

(2) First Sergeant's Course (must be occupying a 1SG duty position).

(3) Sergeants Major Academy.

9-7. Other Chaplain Assistant training

a. Refer to DA Pam 600-25 for specific information on institutional and operational training.

b. Chaplain Assistants participate in collective MOS-specific and professional development training in compliance with the Chaplain training strategy and plan.

c. Self-development training allows individuals to pursue personal and professional development goals that cannot be met by institutional and operational training. Every Chaplain Assistant must commit to a lifetime of professional and personal growth. Supervisory Chaplain Assistants assist subordinates in preparing and maintaining a self-development plan, preparing them for leadership at the next level.

Section IV

Unit Ministry Team Training

9-8. Unit Ministry Team training in organizations

a. A UMT works together to perform or provide religious support for an organization. Organization missions vary, but the principles of UMT cohesiveness, efficiency, and endurance remain essential in all UMTs responsibilities.

b. The UMT sustains proficiency through multiple collective experiences across the spectrum of training domains of garrison and field operations. The UMT trains with the organization as much as possible to ensure the highest levels of religious support are integrated with unit operations and procedures.

9-9. Other Unit Ministry Team training

The UMT trains and achieves proficiency at both religious support and staff functional tasks as well as their Warrior tasks and drills.

Section V

Moral Leadership Training

9-10. Introduction

a. The Moral Leadership Training Program of the Army addresses the broad range and impact of moral concerns of the profession of arms and the conduct of war. Moral leadership training focuses on the education and application of current Army values and the virtues and values that were formative in the shaping of America and are still present in the contemporary military setting. This training recognizes the inherent dignity of all people, the value of the state, the virtues of leadership, selfless citizenship, and duty. Moral leadership training also examines the religious and spiritual connections associated with ethical decision making, personal values, and personal relationships.

b. The Chaplain, as the adviser to the commander in the areas of morals and morale as affected by religion, is the principal staff officer for this program. The program is command directed and is a staff function of the Chaplain and not to be used as part of a religious event. The program is designed to be flexible in its implementation and topic selection.

c. Commanders resource the Moral Leadership Training Program. Training cycles, deployments, location, situation, and other missions of the unit influence the selection of the moral leadership training topics.

9-11. Concept

Moral leadership training is a commander's tool to address the moral, social, ethical, and spiritual questions that affect the climate of the command and the lives of all personnel assigned to that command. The body of military law, statutes, regulations, traditions, and customs is designed to guide the actions of Soldiers and DA civilians. Military leaders and commanders at all levels are charged to uphold the law, to establish the military social climate, and to seek to promote the best alternatives of choice for their Soldiers. Standards are established at every level of command. The values of loyalty, honesty, obedience, professionalism, and responsibility become part of a belief structure of individuals and of the corporate whole. Moral leadership training is designed to assist the commander in undergirding leadership tasks in order to enhance moral standards and resilience, strengthen character, promote American identity, and lead with credibility.

9-12. Objectives

The Moral Leadership Training Program has the following objectives:

- c.* Preparation and use of original materials by individual Chaplains, in coordination with local commanders and their staff officers, is encouraged.

9–16. Methods of instruction

The training objective may be attained using a variety of instructional methods—

- a.* Formal classroom training/instruction.
- b.* Panel discussions/symposia.
- c.* Multimedia presentations.
- d.* Experiential learning groups.
- e.* Self-paced training.
- f.* Distance learning.
- g.* Off site excursions, for example, staff rides, terrain walks, museums, and so forth.

Chapter 10

Army National Guard and Army Reserve Chaplaincy Readiness and Mobilization

10–1. General

The ARNG and USAR Chaplains and Chaplain Assistants will be ready, trained, and equipped to respond to peacetime and wartime contingencies. The UMTs mobilize and deploy with units to ensure religious support is provided throughout the area of operation (AO) and/or in support of CONUS contingencies. This chapter addresses both the mobilization and deployment of ARNG and USAR UMTs and the process of Individual Augmentees (IA). Unless stated otherwise, mobilization will refer to serving under the authority of Title 10.

10–2. Guidance

- a.* All ARNG and USAR Chaplains must complete the CHBOLC prior to being mobilized and/or deployed for CONUS or OCONUS employment in accordance with Title 10.
- b.* The ARNG and USAR Chaplains must have a valid DD Form 2088 to mobilize.
- c.* Retired Chaplains must obtain a current DD Form 2088 prior to recall to Active Duty with retiree recall comment in remarks.
- d.* The cross-leveling of Chaplains and Chaplain Assistants is conducted as an exception to policy and requires thorough coordination between all appropriate HQs. Any cross leveling between AC and RC must have OCCH written approval. Unit integrity will be maintained when possible. The CCH priorities for cross-leveling Chaplains and Chaplain Assistants are—
 - (1) Deploying units with vacant authorized UMT positions.
 - (2) Installations supporting large populations of Family members that need UMT augmentation in support of expeditionary requirements.
 - (3) High demand/low density (HD/LD) faith group requirements.
 - (4) Training centers.
 - (5) Other requirements validated by the CCH.

10-3. Mobilization management

a. During contingency operations, mobilization, and deployments, the CCH manages Chaplain and Chaplain Assistant assets through a decentralized process that allows quick response to contingency requirements. The DACH-3/5/7 Operational, Mobilization Officer has administrative management responsibility to identify for the CCH UMT assets for mobilization. The CCH SGM has oversight management responsibility for mobilization and deployment of Chaplain Assistants.

b. Additional mobilization and contingency guidance is outlined in the Chaplain Annexes of the Army Mobilization and Operations Planning and Execution System (AMOPES), DA Personnel Policy Guidance (PPG) for Contingency Operations in Support of Global War on Terrorism, U. S. Army Forces Command Mobilization Deployment and Execution System (FORMDEPS), and other ACOMs, Installation and Unit Mobilization and Contingency Plans. The CCH provides ACOMs, ASCCs, DRUs, NGB, and JFHQs Command Chaplains with additional guidance regarding the mobilization and deployment of Chaplains and Chaplain Assistants. Coordination will be accomplished via the appropriate command and technical channels.

10-4. Mobilization responsibilities

a. The CCH provides the leadership for UMT mobilization and pre-mobilization readiness. Chaplain assets are managed by the CCH through the functional counterparts at ACOMs, ASCCs, DRUs, JFHQs, and Installations.

b. The CCH manages the sourcing of RC volunteers and AC Chaplains and Chaplain Assistants to meet IA requirements in contingency operations, rear detachment RS, HD/LD Chaplaincy requirements, and other unique mission requirements.

c. The DACH-RCI identifies volunteer USAR, IRR, and IMA Chaplains and Chaplain Assistants eligible for supporting an IA mission.

d. The DACH-3/5/7 provides the CCH with a periodic report of USAR mobilized and deployed UMTs.

e. The Forces Command (FORSCOM) Chaplain exercises Chaplain staff responsibility to assess the readiness and mobilization, training, and preparing of CONUS UMTs for deployment. The FORSCOM Chaplain conducts an annual Chaplaincy Readiness and Mobilization Planners Training Workshop to validate and maintain Chaplaincy mobilization and readiness capability. The FORSCOM Chaplain will maintain the Chaplaincy Handbook on Readiness and Mobilization.

f. The 1st Army Chaplain evaluates and assists in ARNG and USAR UMT mobilization training.

g. The USARC Chaplain manages the planning and mobilization of USAR TPU UMTs and coordinates with DACH-3/5/7 regarding USAR Chaplains and Chaplain Assistants eligible for IA assignment.

h. The ARNG Staff Chaplain-LNO to the CCH monitors the mobilization planning and execution of ARNG UMTs supporting DA and JFHQ missions and provides a monthly roster of mobilized ARNG UMTs to the OCCH. The ARNG Staff Chaplain-LNO to the CCH also informs the OCCH of ARNG assets serving in activated (Title 32) status for more than 30 continuous days.

i. The JFHSC and USAR Command Chaplains monitor the readiness and mobilization of UMTs within their Command to provide situational awareness through appropriate HQs and to the OCCH.

j. The ACOM and ASCC (CONUS and OCONUS), USARC and DRU Command Chaplains maintain situational awareness of mobilization issues and concerns and provide monthly assessments of and future requirements for mobilized and/or deployed USAR and ARNG assets to the OCCH.

k. The Commandant, USACHCS implements a Mobilization Curriculum in the Program of Instruction for use in the officer and enlisted professional development courses at USACHCS.

l. The SrCH:

(1) Coordinates RS to CONUS Replacement Centers (CRCs) and Mobilization Station SRP sites.

(2) Appoints a Chaplaincy Readiness and Mobilization Planner.

(3) Maintains a viable Mobilization SOP and UMT Mobilization/Deployment Planner Handbook on Readiness and Mobilization.

(4) Recommends manning adjustments through appropriate commands to meet mission requirements.

(5) Monitors Garrison Mobilization Table of Distribution and Allowances (MOBTDA) authorizations and requirements.

(6) Provides a periodic report of mobilized USAR or ARNG UMTs supporting the Garrison missions to the respective command Chaplain of the higher HQs.

10-5. Office of the Chief of Chaplains capabilities to meet individual augmentee requirements

a. Active Duty and USAR AGR Chaplains and Chaplain Assistants may be reassigned to meet validated IA requirements.

b. The ARNG and USAR Chaplains and Chaplain Assistants may volunteer to be mobilized to meet validated IA requirements during post deployment dwell time. Chaplaincy IA requirements will be documented by a CCH directed process that balances the Chaplaincy requirements against total Chaplaincy assets.

10–6. Reporting

The ACOM, ASCC, DRU Command Chaplains, USARC, and ARNG-LNO will consolidate and render a status report periodically as determined by the CCH to DACH–3/5/7 listing the name, grade, component, denomination, unit, destination, and length of deployment (OCONUS) and employment (CONUS) of all Chaplains and Chaplain Assistants mobilized for all purposes over 30 days in length. Operational security (OPSEC) will be strictly followed.

10–7. Logistics

All Reserve Component Chaplains and Chaplain Assistants are provided logistical support by their unit of assignment. The SrCH assists deploying or mobilizing ARNG and USAR UMTs by facilitating access to installation chapel facilities, office space, and information technology workstations if available, and discretionary amounts of unique religious support items such as: sacramental wine, religious literature, religious icons (see chap 12).

10–8. Exercises and training

a. All UMT Mobilization planners will actively participate in exercises to improve readiness, validate mobilization plans, and increase expeditionary capabilities.

b. All ARNG and USAR UMTs follow the CCH's and FORSCOM Chaplain's annual Training Guidance and participate in CAST and all unit mission planning, mission rehearsal exercises, and field exercises. All Senior Supervisory Chaplain and Chaplain Assistants at JFHQs and USARC Operational, Functional and Training Commands will ensure subordinate UMTs actively participate in the above.

Chapter 11

Knowledge Management and Information Systems

11–1. General

This chapter establishes the policies and assigns responsibilities for the management of knowledge resources and information systems as it applies to the Army Chaplaincy. The objective is to establish and maintain a user-oriented, multifunctional, strategic knowledge management system with capabilities that are fully integrated with DOD and Army systems.

11–2. Chaplain Automated Religious Support System

a. The Chaplain Automated Religious Support System (CARSS) is the only CCH approved system to accomplish the overall strategic communication objectives of the Army Chaplaincy.

b. The CARSS consolidates Chaplaincy religious support systems, branch-developed software, policies and procedures, and all other Chaplaincy information systems and knowledge resources into a total information and knowledge management system.

c. The CCH will approve all proposals that seek to modify the existing CARSS infrastructure to ensure the compatibility and integrity of the CARSS system. All proposals for expanding CARSS must be consistent with the DOD, DA, OCCH policies, the ACSP, and must be approved by the CCH prior to implementation.

11–3. Chaplain Automated Religious Support System Advisory Group

a. The Chaplain Automated Religious Support System Advisory Group (CARSSAG) acts as the advisor to the CCH in the area of Knowledge Management and Information Technology and provides guidance to the field on the use of CARSS.

b. The Director, DACH–4/6/8/EN/STRATCOM acts as the CARSSAG Chair and exercises supervisory responsibility for CARSS implementation.

c. The CARSS employs a 3-tier administrative channel: OCCH, CARSSAG, and the CARSS Administrator. Proposals, information, reports, inquiries, requests for support, and replies will be routed to the next higher or lower command, as appropriate.

Chapter 12

Logistics Management

12–1. General

a. Authority. Commanders are required to furnish Chaplains with facilities, equipment, and transportation for performing their duties.

b. Chaplaincy logistics management. Chaplaincy logistics management is a process encompassing requirements related to planning, acquisition, accountability, use, maintenance, and disposal of all religious facilities, equipment, and supplies.

12-2. Responsibilities

a. Commanders at all levels are responsible for providing religious support, supplies, and equipment needed for the religious support mission.

b. The CCH exercises responsibility for Chaplain Branch materiel requirements, procurement decisions, distribution strategy, and logistics management for all religious support items furnished through APF.

(1) The DACH-4/6/8/EN/STRATCOM exercises logistics management responsibility for Chaplaincy religious support supplies, equipment, and products. The DACH-4/6/8/EN/STRATCOM accomplishes its logistics management responsibility in coordination with the Capabilities Development Integration Directorate (CDID), USACHCS, U.S. Army Materiel Command (USAMC), and Defense Logistics Agency (DLA).

(2) The CDID, USACHCS, is responsible for requirements recommendation for Materiel and Organization. USAMC monitors and coordinates acquisition related research, and development of Chaplain specific logistics supplies and equipment (see AR 71-9).

(3) The USAMC coordinates with CDID for the collection and processing of Operational Needs Statements (ONS) and Wartime Rapid Acquisition Processes (WRAP).

(4) The USAMC Command Chaplain manages the Chaplain Acquisition Program for development and testing of supplies and equipment.

(5) The DLA coordinates joint acquisition actions, establishes DOD inventory, and facilitates distribution of Chaplain specific supplies and equipment.

c. Command and SrCHs are responsible for—

(1) Training Chaplaincy personnel regarding DOD, DA and local logistics policy and regulation, and all procedures for procurement and disposal of religious support supplies and equipment.

(2) Establishing and maintaining a religious support supply plan, which documents the religious support supplies, equipment, and facility requirements needed to accomplish the religious support mission.

(3) Establishing and maintaining a real property management plan which includes facility usage and property accountability.

(4) Conducting an annual validation of a 5-year master replacement plan with IMCOM and DACH-4/6/8/EN/STRATCOM.

12-3. Religious facilities

a. Construction. The SrCH ICW the Garrison Chaplain is responsible for identifying religious facility construction requirements and ensuring those requirements are included in the installation master plan. Garrison Chaplains will forward a copy of all active military construction projects through the IMCOM Chaplain to DACH-4/6/8/EN/STRATCOM not later than 30 days after the beginning of each fiscal year (DD Form 1391 (Military Construction Project Data) and AR 420-1, para 4-20, DA Pam 415-15, chap 3).

b. Space requirements.

(1) Formulas from the DOD Construction Manual 4270.1M and DA Pam 415-28 establish authorized space based on installation population. The DACH-4/6/8/EN/STRATCOM prioritizes funding for facility renovation projects. Space allowance for chapels in hospital facilities is based on the number of beds in the hospital.

(2) Chaplain office space requirements.

(a) Garrison Chaplains will appoint Chaplains and non-commissioned officers as facility managers in charge of religious facilities. Chapel managers and their NCOIC may occupy office space in chapels.

(b) Commanders will provide the UMT with appropriate private office space in the unit area that supports the requirement for confidentiality and privileged communication.

c. Religious facilities designs. Religious facilities are constructed in accordance with standard designs under the Facilities Standardization Program through Army Corps of Engineers, Center of Standards. (Army Chapel Standard Definitive Design, April 2004). Standard designs include detailed religious functional requirements to accommodate diverse faith groups. Religious facility standard design reviews or modifications to Chapel standard design must be staffed through OCCH and approved by Office of the Assistant Chief of Staff for Installation Management (OACSIM) Facility Design Team.

d. Types of facilities. The types of religious facilities are as follows:

(1) Chapels (Facility Category Code 73017) (Army Chapel Standard Definitive Design, April 2004).

(a) Chapel (17,900 SF - seating capacity of 200, expandable to 355).

(b) Chapel Center (22,600 SF- seating capacity of 400, expandable to 629).

(c) Chapel Complex (32,900 SF - seating capacity of 600, expandable to 1191).

(d) Initial Entry Training Chapel - seating capacity 1,400.

(2) Religious Education Facility (Facility Category Code 73018).

- (a) Scheme A: 3,300 SF.
- (b) Scheme B: 5,290 SF.
- (c) Scheme C: 9,525 SF.
- (3) Family Life Center (Facility Category Code 73019).
- (a) Scheme A: 11,700 SF.
- (b) Scheme B: 16,970 SF.

e. Unspecified Minor Military Construction Army. DA Pam 415–15, appendix B, outlines policies and procedures governing the UMMCA Program for unspecified minor construction requirements that cannot wait for normal programming procedures. Consideration of economy, efficiency, welfare, or morale alone is not sufficient justification for considering a project.

f. Furnishings and equipment. Chapel furnishings and equipment listed as Installed Building Equipment (IBE) are part of the construction contract and should be financed with Military Construction Army (MCA) funds in accordance AR 420–1 and DA Pam 415–15. Interior packages will be programmed on a timely basis, but not in advance of congressional approval of funding for the project.

g. Maintenance of facilities. The Director of Public Works (DPW) is responsible for planning, coordinating, and programming resources for engineering functions, which include maintenance and repair of facilities, minor construction, custodial services, grounds, fire prevention and protection, and refuse collection and disposal. The SrCH or designee will conduct quarterly inspections of religious facilities.

h. Use of chapel facilities. Religious facilities on military installations are classified as dedicated facilities. Appropriate activities, which do not detract from its primary purpose, may be scheduled on a temporary basis. Such facilities are used for religious services for military personnel, their Family members, DOD civilians, and retirees (AR 600–20, para 5–10). Provisions will be made in the construction of the facility to accommodate the requirements of distinctive faith groups, such as: the Blessed Sacrament (Roman Catholic), segregated kosher kitchen/storage (Jewish), and ritual washing (Islamic). The SrCH or designee will manage the scheduling and use of all religious facilities for the installation senior commander.

(1) Distinctive faith groups represented in the command may use religious facilities on a space available basis under the supervision of a Chaplain.

(2) Other appropriate command activities may be conducted in the facility, when the facility is not being used for religious purposes. Appropriate activities are those which do not detract from the perception of sacred space dedicated to the well being and spiritual health of individuals. Chapel sanctuaries are not generic lecture halls or morale, welfare, and recreation sites.

(3) Chapels must be available for meditation and prayer when formal religious services are not scheduled.

(4) Consideration for scheduling use of facilities will be based upon—

(a) Availability when the use of the chapel facility does not conflict with recurring scheduled services of worship or other recurring religious program activities.

(b) Distinctive faith group requirements, traditions, and practices.

(c) Priorities established by local standing operating procedures (SOPs) or supplemental regulations.

(d) Government entitlement to use the facility.

(5) No fees will be charged, received, or prescribed by any Chaplain or Chaplain Assistant for services they perform or for use of chapel facilities (18 USC 209).

i. Naming and identifying facilities. The Garrison Commander will designate in writing the name of a new religious facility. A religious facility will be designated by its location, a letter or number, or the name of the installation using the building. Names should not be chosen that prescribe exclusive or primary use. Religious facilities will not be named for any person, living or dead, or designated by a name or term suggesting any distinctive faith group. Exceptions may be granted for facilities officially registered as historically significant (see AR 1–33).

j. Historically significant facilities. Requests to designate chapel facilities as buildings of historical significance or interest will be coordinated with DACH–4/6/8/EN/STRATCOM (Executive Order 11593 and DA Pam 405–45).

k. Symbols. The chapel environment will be religiously neutral when the facility is not being used for scheduled worship. Portable religious symbols, icons, or statues may be used within a chapel during times of religious worship. Symbols are to be moved or covered when not in use during services. Distinctive religious symbols, such as crosses, crucifixes, the Star of David, Menorah, and other religious symbols will not be affixed or displayed permanently on the chapel interior, exterior, or grounds. Permanent or fixed chapel furnishings, such as the altar, pulpit, lectern, or communion rail will be devoid of distinctive religious symbols.

l. Memorials. The acquisition and display of memorial plaques, markers, and signs is governed by AR 1–33. The content, design, and location will be coordinated through appropriate channels and approved by DACH–4/6/8/EN/STRATCOM prior to installation. The guidelines listed in paragraph 12–3*k* apply to the installation of memorials.

m. Stained glass windows. Stained glass windows enhance the beauty of Army chapels; they are not museum pieces. Stained glass window designs will not reflect an exclusively distinctive faith group orientation. Neither should they be devoid of all religious imagery and symbolism. All stained glass window design proposals will be staffed through IMCOM to OCCH for approval before a contract is negotiated for purchase, regardless of the source of funds.

n. Chapel flags. Authorization, procurement, and display of chapel flags and Chaplain field flags is in accordance with AR 840–10.

o. Chapel facility conversion or disposal. Facility conversion changes recommend the change in use of a building from one facility category code to an alternate purpose. Facility category code 73017 refers to a chapel. Chapels will not be converted or diverted for nonreligious use or disposed of without approval of the Office of the Chief of Chaplains (DACH–4/6/8/EN/STRATCOM). Chapels may be converted to other Religious use facilities (Fac category codes 73018, 19, or 20) by approval of OCCH. All equipment and ecclesiastical furnishings will be removed, stored, or shipped in accordance with applicable regulations. Architectural features such as steeples and stained glass windows will be removed with local installation funds. Request to keep religious architectural features must be submitted through command channels to OCCH for waiver and approval. Commanders initiate requests for chapel facility conversion through IMCOM headquarters master planning branches and the operations division for the OCCH logistics officer (DACH–4/6/8/EN/STRATCOM). AR 405–70 provides additional guidance.

12–4. Logistics support

a. Authorization documents. Specific authorization documents identify Chaplain section or chapel equipment authorizations within the TAADS. Authorization documents available for UMTs to use when planning for or ordering supplies and equipment include:

(1) Common table of allowances. The CTA is an authorization document listing equipment, clothing, furnishings, etc. that can be used in either a tactical or mission support environment. Authorization for Chaplaincy equipment is defined in CTA 50–909, table 3.

(2) Table of organization (TOE), modification table of organization and equipment (MTOE), and tables of distribution of allowances (TDA).

(a) The TOE/MTOE and TDAs are produced by the TAADS. The TDAs are normally associated with sustaining base units and MTOEs with tactical units. A MTOE is a TOE modified to support specific units with unique geographical operating environments and missions.

(b) These authorization documents support the organization and equipping of units designed to deploy on operations or perform functions in the sustaining base. Each type of unit (for example, infantry, artillery, armor, training, and so forth) will have its own unique standards for equipping.

(c) The UMT must review the unit authorization document containing the list of authorized equipment. The UMT exercises property management discipline by conducting inventories of assigned equipment regardless of the equipment location and storage. It is the UMTs responsibility to safeguard and maintain authorized unit equipment in operational condition.

(d) The UMT will notify DACH–4/6/8/EN/STRATCOM through appropriate staff channels of changes in CTA 50–909 and CTA 50–970 authorized Chaplain equipment that directly affects religious support capability.

b. Special authorization policy. The CCH provides authorization for special items of equipment for UMT use that may not be included in the current CTA, TDA, or MTOE.

(1) Chaplain kits and ceremonial stoles.

(a) The USACHCS issues Chaplain kits and ceremonial stoles to all Chaplains (AC/RC) graduating from CHBOLC.

(b) The USACHCS will not issue Chaplain kits or ceremonial stoles to Chaplain Candidates graduating from CHBOLC. When Chaplain Candidates are accessioned as Chaplains, they may request issuance of a Chaplain kit and ceremonial stole from DACH–4/6/8/EN/STRATCOM. All requests must include the requesting Chaplain's faith group, mailing address, a copy of Chaplain appointment orders, and a copy of CHBOLC graduation certificate. The DACH–4/6/8/EN/STRATCOM will direct USACHCS to issue the Chaplain kit and ceremonial stole.

(c) Chaplain kits and ceremonial stoles are issued as one-time issue, non-recoverable items of individual equipment and will be retained by the Chaplain. Chaplain kits may be reissued due to loss not involving individual culpability. Request for reissue will be forwarded through the respective ACOM, ASCC, or DRU to DACH–4/6/8/EN/STRATCOM for approval.

(2) Religious publications. Religious publications that make positive statements about religious beliefs are authorized for display and distribution on military installations in accordance with AR 600–20. Literature, videos, or other media presentations that attack or degrade the beliefs and practices of other religious groups will not be purchased, distributed, or displayed on military installations or areas under the jurisdiction or control of the Army.

12–5. Ecclesiastical equipment and supplies

Ecclesiastical equipment and supply items are listed under Federal Supply classification 9925. The Defense Logistic Agency (DLA) and the Defense Supply Center Philadelphia manages all Chaplaincy peculiar 9925 items. An updated listing of all ecclesiastical supply and equipment items can be obtained through the DLA Chaplain's services Web site (<http://www.dla.mil/chaplain/>). To order, UMT will be directed to DLAs DOD EMALL Web site: <http://www.emall.dla.mil>. When UMTs need ecclesiastical supplies, they must first check pricing and availability within the DOD Electronic Commerce system before making purchasing decisions. When DOD sources have the best price for ecclesiastical items, UMTs should purchase from DOD sources.

12-6. Property accountability

a. AR 735-5 provides general guidance on the principles and basic procedures for property accountability.

(1) All property acquired by the Army through purchase, lease, rental, transfer, donation, or any other means must be accounted for in an appropriate property account. The Garrison Chaplain will insure that a property manager/hand receipt holder is appointed and property accountability is maintained in accordance with AR 735-5.

(2) Unserviceable or excess blessed or consecrated items will be turned in by the following method:

(a) The Garrison Chaplain forwards request for turn into the Property Book Office. Each request will list items to be dropped, the condition of items to be dropped, and a statement that the items will be disposed of in a manner acceptable to the distinctive faith group that blessed or consecrated the item(s). Once dropped from the property book, the consecrated items are disposed of in an appropriate manner. Such items will not be turned over to property disposal officers.

(b) Serviceable excess items such as pews or chancel furnishings will be offered to other commands, active and reserve, for continued use.

b. The CTOF Manager determines the use of chapel property owned by CTOF. Property will not be accepted under conditions of any special use specified by the donor and will not be identified with the name of any individual donor or person. - (b) Purchase Orders are required for small purchases.
- (c) Payments for small purchases are normally made by check, electronic transfer, and Government Purchase Card.
- (3) The IMCOM or MEDCOM Chaplain must approve single item purchases greater than $25,000 ($25,000 is the limit of warrant for the fund manager for single purchases).
- b.* The NPS contracting (see para 14–3)—
- (1) The NPS contracts may be used by the CTOF to procure services to supplement the CMRP.
- (2) The NPS contracts are an exception to policy requiring approval by the appropriate level headquarters.
- (3) The NPS contracts will be on an intermittent or temporary basis not to exceed 12 months.
- (4) The IMCOM or MEDCOM Chaplain must approve all requests for CTOF NPS contracts for clergy, religious education coordinators, parish coordinators, and youth workers regardless of dollar amount of contract.
- (5) The IMCOM or MEDCOM Chaplain must approve any CTOF NPS contract of $25,000 or more prior to award ($25,000 is the limit of warrant for the fund manager for single contracts).
- (6) NPS contract procedures will comply with paragraph 14–3.
- c.* Checks—
- (1) CTOF checks must be preprinted and pre-numbered. CTOF checks will be identified by their official title, which will include the words An Instrumentality of the United States, and a standard NAFI identification number (SNN).
- (2) The CTOF Manager must sign all checks. The Chair of the CPBAC or designee must sign all checks for $3,000 or more as an internal control.
- d.* The CTOF Government Purchase Card (GPC) operations may be used for purchases under $3,000 and over $3,000 subject to the limits of the card established by the OCCH GPC SOP and the Government Purchase Card program. The CTOF Government Purchase Card will be the only credit or purchase card used by the fund. CTOF GPC operations will comply with this regulation and the Government Purchase Card Program SOP.
- e.* Petty cash operations—
- (1) Petty cash is an authorized method for procuring goods and services when the use of other procurement methods is not feasible. Petty cash fund purchases will not be used to circumvent normal procurement procedures. An exception for cash operations must be approved by the IMCOM or MEDCOM Chaplain.
- (2) Remote (removed from the geographical vicinity of the fund and requiring decentralized management) petty cash fund operations may be authorized by the IMCOM or MEDCOM Chaplain on an as-needed basis for operating CTOF activities. The CTOF Manager will designate the remote petty cash fund accountable officer in writing.
- (3) The amount of individual petty cash funds will be specifically approved in writing by the CTOF Manager and will not exceed $500. Remote petty cash funds are considered individual petty cash funds.
- (4) Payments from petty cash funds will not exceed $500 for any one transaction.
- (5) Payments from petty cash must be in support of a specific approved CMRP item.
- (6) Transactions will not be fragmented to circumvent the CTOF Managers limitation or the $500 per transaction limit set by this regulation.
- (7) Petty cash funds will not be used for cashing checks, making travel payments, or travel advances.
- (8) The petty cash fund must be replenished at least monthly.
- (9) The CTOF Manager will reimburse the purchasing agent for sales taxes when the local vendor does not accept a U.S. Government tax exemption. Processing a U.S. Government tax exemption for single purchase State and local tax under $10 is not required.
- f.* Hosting of dignitaries and ecclesiastical visitors.
- (1) Expenses incurred while serving as an official host to ecclesiastical dignitaries, foreign military Chaplains, or other distinguished visitors may be paid from the CTOF provided the Garrison Chaplain determines the hosting event promotes the Chaplaincy or religious program of the Army. Ethics rules must be followed. Although not binding to CTOF, Official Representation Funds regulations offer appropriate parallels for the CTOF to determine reasonable funding thresholds and number of U.S. military attendees.

(2) Payments are limited to actual cost for dignitaries hosted and for such other personnel as required to attend the function or activity.

(3) Payments will not be made for food and lodging for persons in a TDY status.

(4) Maximum use of official TDY or command invitational travel orders is the preferred method (when applicable) for hosting dignitaries.

15–14. Management control

a. The Internal Control Evaluation Checklist for CTOF operations is in appendix E.

b. Inspections and Audits

(1) ACOMs, ASCCs, IMCOM or MEDCOM will inspect subordinate CTOF annually.

(2) Audits must be conducted using the principles outlined in AR 11–7 at times determined by the Commander—

(a) Every 2 years.

(b) Upon change of the fund manager.

(c) Prior to consolidation, transfer, or disestablishment of a fund.

(3) A formal audit may be required if an inspection or the informal audit finds a material weakness.

(4) Two disinterested officers will conduct an informal inspection of the fund once a month to determine, at a minimum the following:

(a) The monthly bank statement has been reconciled to the checkbook.

(b) The checkbook, general ledger, and statement of operations and net worth are reconciled and balanced.

(c) The transactions of the fund are recorded.

c. Safeguarding CTOF contributions

(1) Funds.

(a) Collections and offerings will be received publicly, remain in public view until removed for counting, then counted immediately upon removal from public view and prepared for deposit by at least two adults (18 years of age or older and unrelated by either blood or Family ties).

(b) Offering counts will be recorded on pre-numbered and controlled offering count forms. Forms are prescribed in DA Pam 165–18.

(c) The Chaplain Assistant assigned to the service will verify offering counts.

(d) The Chaplain in charge of the service or the designated representative will verify the collections and offerings procedural requirements of this regulation occurred.

(e) All receipts and other negotiable instruments must be deposited in an insured Federal Reserve financial institution (bank) and vouched on the date of receipt or on the first business day following receipt. Until deposited, receipts must be secured in an approved GSA storage container. Deposits will only be made to the account identified by the official name of the fund. The CTOF will not be used to cash checks or make change (see DOD Financial Management Regulation 7000.14R, Vol 5).

(2) Material donations. These donations to the CTOF are recorded on Memorandum for Record format detailing the donor, an item description of the donation, date, time, person receiving the donation, estimated market value of item, and disposition of item.

15–15. Mandatory transfers and reports

a. The community sub-account is funded by the mandatory internal transfer of a percentage of all regular chapel offering receipts from all sub-account activities. The transfer percentage is established and adjusted as required by the Garrison Chaplain to meet required community programs and anticipated income.

b. The drawdown and transfer of all cash assets in excess of 30 percent of the adjusted net worth of the fund must be made at the conclusion of the fiscal year through IMCOM or MEDCOM Chaplains to the DA Chaplains Fund. Make checks payable to the DA CTOF. The suspense to OCCH is 45 days after the end of the fiscal year.

c. Each CTOF will send an annual report through IMCOM or MEDCOM to: Director, DACH–4/6/8/EN/STRAT-COM, Office of the Chief of Chaplains, 2700 Army Pentagon, Washington DC 20310–2700. The IMCOM and MEDCOM Chaplains will consolidate subordinate reports for final submission to Director, DACH–4/6/8/EN/STRAT-COM. The suspense to OCCH is 45 days after the end of the fiscal year.

15–16. Property

a. The CTOFs are authorized to hold property obtained by purchase, donation, or transfer from another NAFI or from DOD excess property.

b. The CTOF Manager determines the use of property given to the CTOF. Property will not be accepted under conditions of any special use specified by the donor and will not be identified with the name of any individual donor or person. Army organizations and units may be identified as donors of property.

c. Property Accountability

(1) The CTOF managers identify, safeguard, and inventory all nonexpendable CTOF property in accordance with Army property accountability procedures (AR 215-1 and AR 735-5).

(2) The CTOF property losses that appear to involve individual culpability or possible pecuniary liability must be handled under the procedures outlined in AR 215-1 (See also AR 735-5). Claims arising out of investigations will be processed in accordance with procedures in AR 27-20 and AR 215-1.

d. Disposing of fund property.

(1) Property lost, damaged, destroyed, or worn out through normal use, not involving individual culpability or pecuniary liability, may be dropped from accountability.

(2) Unserviceable property (except consecrated or blessed items) may be sold or salvaged.

(3) Unserviceable consecrated or blessed items will be disposed of in a manner acceptable to the faith group for which they were consecrated. Such items will not be turned over to the property disposal officers.

(4) Documentation will be maintained permanently on the disposition and manner of disposition of any unserviceable property (including consecrated or blessed items) that were accountable to the property officer and were disposed.

15-17. Personnel

a. The CTOF will not hire employees nor have an employee personnel support system.

b. Chaplains or Chaplain Assistants will not be contracted by nor receive direct compensation of any kind from the CTOF.

c. Immediate Family members of Chaplains, Chaplain Assistants, and DOD civilians may be contracted by CTOF except for the following:

(1) Immediate Family members of the CTOF Manager and fund clerk.

(2) Immediate Family members of CPBAC members.

(3) Immediate Family members of the Chaplain in charge of the service or activity for which the services are being contracted.

d. Contracts will not be awarded to any U.S. Government or NAFI employee, either civilian or military, or to any organization substantially owned or controlled by one or more U.S. Government or NAFI employees. An exception may be granted if—

(1) The CTOFs needs cannot otherwise be met or some other compelling reason exists.

(2) The exception is approved by the Garrison Chaplain.

e. These policies are intended to avoid any conflicts of interest and appearance of favoritism or preferential treatment between the following:

(1) An employees interests and their official duties.

(2) Family members and the official responsibilities of their sponsor.

15-18. Chaplain field funds

a. Offerings may be received as an act of religious worship during deployments on both U.S. and foreign territory.

b. Commanders of deployed units with an assigned Chaplain may establish temporary, informal CFFs.

c. The CFFs are subject to the guidance of the theater Commander, and this regulation.

d. The CFFs are an exception to the normal process of managing CTOF. They are identified as a sub-account to an established home station CTOF.

e. The CFFs are authorized to receive and disburse funds in support of unit religious activities.

f. The CFFs are exempt from mandatory transfers and draw downs.

g. The unit Chaplain serves as the CFF manager. The unit Chaplain Assistant serves as the CFF clerk.

h. The CFFs are managed informally. Guidance is provided as follows:

(1) The Chaplain and Chaplain Assistant must practice basic management controls to avoid the appearance of a conflict of interest or suspicion of misuse of funds.

(2) The Chaplain ensures that offerings are counted by at least two people and secured by the most reasonable means possible in accordance with rules established by the theater Commander.

(3) The Chaplain presides over an informal CFF advisory committee of at least 3 members, which meets as needed to recommend expenditures to the unit Commander for approval. Approvals are noted in an informal field-fund journal.

(4) Receipts and disbursements are accounted for in an informal field-fund journal.

(5) The informal CFF advisory committee will conduct periodic inspections of the receipts and disbursements recorded in the informal field-fund journal of the CFF.

(6) The Commander must appoint a disinterested officer to audit the CFF operations prior to redeployment. A statement of audit will be provided to the next higher headquarters and to the sponsoring Installation CTOF Manager at home station.

(7) Upon alert to redeploy, the CFF assets will be disposed in accordance with rules of this regulation or transmitted to the home station CTOF.

(8) The CFF is an extension of a formal CTOF with the same limitations of use and prohibitions as stated above. The CFF is not authorized to receive material donations. It is not an authorized funding source for non-U.S. forces.

i. A CFF normally operates at the petty cash level of management, risk and operational limits. When the operating level of the CFF exceeds the petty cash threshold, or upon the stabilization of the theater, a formal CTOF may be established, and the CTOF management procedures and accounting as outlined in this chapter will apply.

Chapter 16

Pastoral Care and Counseling

16–1. General

Pastoral care and counseling is a core capability of the Chaplain Corps. Pastoral care and counseling describes a broad range of activities involved in caring for and strengthening Army personnel to survive and grow through the multitude of experiences that are part of military life.

16–2. Confidential and privileged communications

a. Confidential communications. The privilege of confidential communication with a Chaplain is a right of every individual and an essential component of the Chaplains ministry. Confidential communication is any communication given to a Chaplain in trust by an individual, to include enemy prisoners of war (EPWs), if such communication is made either as a formal act of religion or as a matter of conscience. It is a communication that is made in confidence to a Chaplain acting as a spiritual advisor or to a Chaplain Assistant aiding a spiritual advisor. Also, it is a communication not intended to be disclosed to third party persons in any context, legal, or otherwise.

b. Obligations to confidentiality. The privilege of non-disclosure of confidential information belongs to the individual. The Chaplain's or Chaplain Assistant's obligation to maintain confidentiality flows from the person's right to privileged communication.

c. Privileged communications. Privileged and confidential are often considered synonymous. However, when they are differentiated, privileged communications refer to information which is not admissible in a court or legal action, while confidential communications is a more general concept, referring to information which is protected both in and out of the legal context. Generally, a confidential communication is also privileged.

(1) Non-disclosure. The privilege of non-disclosure of confidential information belongs to the person, to the person's guardian or conservator, or personal representative, if the person is deceased. The privilege of confidence extends beyond the death of the person. The privilege may also be claimed on behalf of the person by the Chaplain or Chaplain Assistant who received the communication.

(2) Release from privilege. Chaplains may not disclose a confidential or privileged communication revealed in the practice of their ministry without the individual person's informed consent. This consent must be freely given and not compelled, must be specific regarding the information to be disclosed by the Chaplain, and must be granted after the Chaplain receives the communication. Chaplains will not obtain a blanket release as part of the initiation of a pastoral relationship. Whenever possible this consent will be written, include a signature and date, and be witnessed by a disinterested third party. A release from confidential or privileged communication is inapplicable to cases where a Chaplain is bound by the requirements of sacramental confession.

(3) Privilege in the court system. Privilege cannot be violated by either commanders or the courts. However, if a military judge or other presiding official decides that no privilege exists, a Chaplain or Chaplain Assistant may have a legal obligation to testify. Failure to comply with the ruling of the court may result in disciplinary action under the UCMJ and/or adverse administrative action. Chaplains are strongly encouraged to seek both legal counsel and counsel from Chaplain supervisors in all situations where the existence of privilege may be questioned.

d. Special instructions.

(1) Files containing confidential information. Chaplain notes from confidential and privileged communication are to be clearly marked Confidential: Privileged communication and distinguished in the Chaplain's personal files from professional information and sensitive information. Protected information files will be properly secured and safeguarded protecting them from inadvertent disclosure. When confidential or sensitive information is stored in digital form, the UMT must take steps to ensure that the confidence or privilege cannot be breached. Confidential communication, professional communications, and sensitive information files are the personal files of the individual Chaplain (counselor). These files are not to be maintained in any system of records that may be subject to the Freedom of Information Act, 5 USC 552. Chaplains will personally dispose of them and ensure their destruction through a secure means.

(2) Unit Ministry Team staff and confidential communication. Persons assisting Chaplains, including Chaplain Assistants and chapel office staff, are bound by the same constraints of confidence and privilege as Chaplains. However, every effort will be made to ensure that persons seeking to exercise a sacrament or receive spiritual advice or counseling disclose confidential information only to Chaplains and Chaplain Assistants.

(3) Communications regarding counselees. Chaplains may consult with supervisory Chaplains and/or Family Life Chaplains to ensure the best care and safety for counselees. Whenever this happens, the privilege of confidentiality will extend to all persons brought into these consultations. Chaplains must exercise great caution to avoid inadvertent disclosure of privileged information.

(4) Personal communications between supervisory and subordinate Chaplains. Privilege does not extend between Chaplains and their supervisors when discussing personal and professional issues. Chaplains and Chaplain Assistants who require pastoral counseling or sacraments must do so with a Chaplain outside their supervisory chain to claim privilege and avoid conflicting responsibilities.

(5) Violation of confidential communication. Actions inconsistent with the policies/standards outlined above will constitute a failure to meet Army standards and may result in administrative action and/or punishment under the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ).

e. Sensitive information. Sensitive information is any non-privileged communications that would be an inappropriate subject for general dissemination to a third party (for example, attendance at substance abuse clinics, treatment by counselors, prior arrests).

16-3. Family life ministry

a. Family life ministry activities. Family life ministry refers to a broad range of activities undertaken by all UMTs to enable Soldiers to build and maintain personal spiritual health and build or restore healthy relationships. Family life ministry also provides highly specialized Family life Chaplains serving as advance degree credentialed Family systems therapists and trainers.

(1) Family life ministry includes education, consultation, and pastoral counseling.

(2) Family life education is preventive in nature and provides resources for Army constituents to develop healthy relationships on every level that are able to thrive under the pressures of military life. It may include education for single Soldiers, couples, Families, or extended Families, and training in a wide range of factors, such as finances, parenting, and deployment stress.

(3) Consultation and pastoral counseling is a formal and spiritually integrated process enabling Army constituents to change, cope, and resolve their presenting issues in a religious framework.

b. Family Life Chaplains. Family life Chaplains are the credentialed primary trainers of Family life skills. Family life Chaplains (FLCs) will support commanders by providing additional training to Chaplains in pastoral counseling and relationship education skills and programs. The SrCHs on installations and supervising Chaplains will ensure that the primary effort of FLCs is dedicated to these missions.

c. Chaplain Family life centers. The Installation SC provides support for Chaplain Family Life Centers (CFLCs) in the area of personnel, facilities, logistics, and funding. The CFLCs will be staffed appropriately, at a minimum, 1 FLC, 1 Chaplain Assistant (SSG), and/or 1 secretary/receptionist to ensure on-site service and safety. The FLCs will provide training and supervision for Chaplain Assistants assigned to CFLCs to ensure they have skills necessary to function in a CFLC. At a minimum, CFLCs will include a reception area, an office, counseling room, and equipment to enable the Chaplain to provide pastoral counseling and relationship education services, and to conduct Chaplain training.

d. Family life training standards. The Chaplaincy recognizes 3 skill levels of Family life training.

(1) Basic pastoral counselor. Basic competence is established by completing CHBOLC and PST-FL or equivalent provided by a FLC or other professional.

(2) Family life Chaplains. Chaplains who complete the U.S. Army Family Life Chaplain Training Program or an equivalent program as determined by the CCH. FLC qualifying training includes a masters-level degree in counseling, a practicum in counseling, theological integration, and specialized training in military applications.

(3) Family life Chaplain supervisor. FLCs who have successfully completed the Family life supervisor in Training Program or an equivalent program, and who meet the professional credentialing requirements for Approved Supervisor are awarded 56D7K, FLC Supervisor. Directors of the Chief of Chaplains Family life training and resource centers will be FLC supervisors. Family life supervisors will provide clinical supervision.

e. Continuing education. All Chaplains must maintain competence in pastoral care and counseling through continuing education. FLCs will maintain their professional credentials in pastoral counseling and relationship education. Continuing education standards in pastoral care, counseling, and relationship education are set by the CCH.

f. Army well-being programs. The FLCs may support training in Army well-being programs to include: suicide prevention, domestic violence and intervention, sexual assault prevention and response, deployment cycle support, and battle mind training.

16-4. Institutional Ministry (hospital and confinement)

a. Facilities for unit ministry teams. Unit Ministry Teams provide pastoral care and counseling as assigned staff members in hospitals and confinement facilities. Religious support in these demanding settings requires CCH directed specialized training in crisis ministry, trauma event management, processing grief and loss, and pastoral conduct and ethics in an institutional setting. The UMTs extend the Army's concern for Soldiers and Families in the remote and often lonely locations of hospital waiting rooms, patient rooms, combat support hospitals, physical therapy centers, and jail cells. Additionally, UMTs contribute as fellow staff members to the command and cadres of institutions as they deal with the issues of high demand, stress, grief and loss, security, rehabilitation, and professional ethics.

b. Resources for unit ministry teams. Institutional Chaplains use their specialized experience to provide training and consultation for unit Chaplains to maximize UMT effectiveness. The MEDCOM Chaplain collaborates with the CCH training strategies to enhance UMT care giving skills throughout the Army Chaplaincy.

16-5. Deployment Cycle Support Program

Unit ministry teams provide support to Soldiers and Families in accordance with guidance from the Army leadership in the Deployment Cycle Support Program. Family life Chaplains and hospital Chaplains provide training for UMTs in skills and programs fielded to support Soldiers and Family members throughout the DCS Program. The CCH expects all Chaplains, Chaplain Assistants, and religious educators to aggressively seek to find their individual roles in making the DCS responsive to Soldier and Family needs in this time of prolonged conflict. This is especially challenging in the distributed and decentralized needs of the Reserve Components. Army Chaplains are expected to achieve innovative and responsive religious support to the DCS through extensive cooperation and collaboration within their respective Reserve Component areas of influence. The USARC Chaplain and ARNG Staff Chaplain are expected to take the lead for their respective components in determining requirements and aligning capabilities to meet Soldier and Family DCS needs.

16-6. Strong Bonds

a. Building ready Families is a curriculum and retreat-based relationship development program executed by Chaplains in support of Command directives. Strong Bonds includes programs to train Army constituents in relationship skills throughout the Army/Soldier life cycle. The CCH provides guidance for execution of Strong Bonds and, when available, supplemental grants to support units in conducting Strong Bonds training.

b. The CCH provides annual strong bonds guidance to UMTs on Strong Bonds programs and execution. All UMTs are required to comply with directives when doing training using the Strong Bonds name and/or funding.

c. The Chief, Army Reserve provides funding to support Strong Bonds programs in the Army Reserve.

d. The Director of the Army National Guard provides funding to support Strong Bonds programs in the Army National Guard.

e. The Secretary of the Army hereby delegates their authority, as prescribed in 10 USC 1789, to provide support services to build and maintain a strong Family structure among active duty Soldiers and reserve Soldiers in an active status, and their Families, to commanders in the grade of colonel and above. This authority may be delegated to a commander in the grade of lieutenant colonel by the first general officer in the chain of command in situations where there is not an intermediate commander between the commanding general and the commanding lieutenant colonel.

f. Commanders may use APF at installation level and mission funds at unit level to provide the support services prescribed in 10 USC 1789 for the commander's program to build and maintain strong and ready Family structures.

Chapter 17 Transformation

a. This regulation is promulgated during a time of persistent conflict in the Global War on Terror. At the same time the U.S. Army is more than half way through with its continuing national mission to transform within the Department of Defense to meet our Country's future needs well into the 21st Century. Change is the dynamic part of our Army culture. The Army Chaplaincy will remain relevant, responsive, and ready for any mission.

b. The information in this regulation is definitive but evolving. As the Army transforms, new force structures will mature, information and weapons systems will evolve, Soldier support systems will adjust, and the morals and values and spiritual resilience necessary for conducting warfare will continue to demand our devoted attention. Some methods for delivering religious support will adjust on the move. Expect new guidelines and regulations to lag slightly behind the pace of change while adhering to published standards. This regulation assumes a new form of presentation that allows the updating of information primarily as supplements issued in table format. The intent is to keep the general principles of delivering religious support relatively unchanged in the chapter narratives while documenting changes in technique or procedures as the Chaplaincy adapts in pace with transformation.

17-2. Unified actions in joint, interagency, intergovernmental, multinational formations

The OCCH will seek every opportunity to develop sustainable ways to contribute to the vast needs yet to be articulated in support of Army actions in the JIIM. Issues of legality, permissions, collaborative tools, information sharing, and partnering with other governmental agencies to meet religious needs are yet to be explored. In the interim, the Army Chaplaincy remains open for dialogue and discovery regarding the connect points and possibilities.

a. Contractors. Support to contractors is determined at the strategic level by combatant commanders or equivalent National executive levels and detailed through very specific statements of work (SOW), combatant commander policies and directives, and specified tasks in support of ASCC directed tasks. All religious support to contractors is considered external life support. Contractors are expected to be self-sufficient, handling all actions necessary to perform under the conditions of the contract without additional assistance from the Government.

(1) Additional Government support to contractors is dependent on the operational environment and the type of contractor involved. For contractor employees deploying with the force, support, such as lodging and medical treatment, subsistence, laundry and shower, medical, mortuary, morale, MWR, postal, and religious, mortuary affairs, next of kin notification, is generally similar to that provided to DACs participating in the same operation. Regardless of the source, contractor or military, life-support requirements must be identified and included in OPLANs/OPORDs and the governing contract (SOW).

(2) The combatant commander J1 provides the guidance for Army specific contractor-employee personnel related policies. The ASCC commander and the subordinate ARFOR commander (if applicable), has the responsibility to arrange and plan CS and CSS, and to identify and task specific units or organizations to provide the necessary support to contractors.

(3) When contractors are deployed in support of military operations they are provided religious support in accordance with OPLAN/OPORD religious support annexes and appendices. The appropriate religious support section (UMT) assesses the requirements and includes them in the religious support plan. (Pending Senior Commander approval, U.S. contractor Family members may receive religious support through CONUS installations while spouses are deployed in support of military operations.) As directed by the ASCC commander, UMTs will plan for adequate religious support resources including personnel, budget, and literature and sacramental supplies, to support contractor employees who deploy with the force (See FM 3-100.21).

(4) Contractors will not be considered a discreet unit or organization for the purposes of RS. Contractor RS is an integrated part of ongoing military RS programs and will not create separate RS demands that are distinct and apart from ongoing, regularly scheduled military events that are generally open to department of defense civilians. Chaplains may conduct separate burial ceremonies and funerals for contractors as appropriate in support of command directives.

b. Full spectrum operations expect Joint participation. Our effectiveness depends upon our ability to execute our collective Army responsibilities while recognizing the opportunities to engage in joint religious support. Chaplains and Chaplain Assistants are expected to exercise their duties in joint opportunities in the spirit of cooperation, communication, and collaboration. Army technical supervisory channels will remain intact but will also expand to include appropriate Joint accountability and responsiveness. The Chaplaincy will embrace joint concepts, and plan for Joint operations.

c. Intergovernmental. Relationships between America and other Governments participating as member nations to achieve a common interest remain susceptible to impressions and cultural expectations. National government approaches to the free exercise of religion vary dramatically. The impact of global connectivity can shape cultural religious perceptions that significantly impact coalitions and alliances. Chaplains operating in this environment are to seek the technical supervision and counsel of the SrACH or Joint Headquarters to determine the useful methods of sharing or demonstrating religious support with other nations. These situations will not be used as occasions for developing missionary opportunities or proselytizing.

d. Interagency. All operations will require some civil-military integration. Other agencies may be in the lead during an operation with DOD in support. This may be particularly true in a variety of CONUS Consequence Management scenarios and Defense Support to Civil Authority constructs. Army forces remain under DOD control in these cases, in spite of lead agency. Chaplains will continue to provide for their authorized DOD population until directed by command authority to do otherwise. ASCC or Theater Army Chaplains supporting a Combatant Commander are expected to collaborate with the Combatant Command Chaplain to ensure they are contributing to a common operations picture for religious affairs. Where applicable with command approval the Senior Army Chaplain may work with The Joint Interagency Coordination Group (JIACG) on the combatant commander's staff to facilitate interagency religious support. Senior Army Chaplains will make maximum use of a command approved memorandum of agreement or terms of reference to prescribe interagency religious support and resource sharing.

e. Multinational. The increasing appearance of Irregular Warfare emphasizes the importance of diplomacy, stability and predictability of Military Engagement and Security Cooperation. The OCONUS ASCC Chaplains develop opportunities in support of Combatant Commander objectives to enhance Chaplain contacts and mutual projects with foreign Chaplaincies that build trust and confidence, share information, and maintain influence with American allies. These military to military opportunities are part of Combatant Command or ASCC Commander key leader engagements. Chaplains involved in these activities will comply with strategic political objectives and keep combatant command Chaplains informed of all scheduled opportunities and provide an after action report to the combatant command Chaplain within 7 calendar days of the conclusion of the event.

17-3. Base realignment

a. The Army will continue to implement the Congressional laws pertaining to Base Realignment and Closure (BRAC). These activities will dramatically reshape the CONUS and OCONUS installation postures. Some installations will gain large additional troop concentrations or a number of new tenant organizations. These actions will occur in a resource constrained environment and will test the limits of adequate religious support manning and demand an increased level of shared competencies. Chaplains and Assistants will maximize teamwork across commands in order to remain responsive to installation needs and BRAC adjustments. Responsibilities associated with Joint Basing religious support will be determined as a supplement to this regulation when appropriate.

b. The SrCH is appointed by the CCH to assume responsibility for integrating the delivery of religious support across the installation and to facilitate communications between the CCH and commanders. The SrCH prioritizes religious support to meet the demands of the CMRP. All Chaplains will work to support SrCH requirements while they meet their assigned unit responsibilities.

c. The SrCH will examine opportunities to partner with local religious congregations to extend the sense of community and partnership that supports the Army's needs and the Installation SCs intent. These civilian opportunities will serve primarily as a conduit for freedom of religious exercise and community public awareness and appreciation for military members and will not be presented as either an implied or practical augmentation of the Chaplaincy.
